

BANK WRECKING RING LEADER BEING SOUGHT

ACTIVE CHIEF THOUGHT TO BE SECOND PONZI

With Bank President Held
Police Seeking Brains
of Gang.

ALLEGED WIDE PLOT
Systematic Plan of Bleed-
ing Financial Organiz-
tions is Charged

Chicago, Feb. 22.—With Frank L. Taylor, president of the First National Bank of Warren, Mass., under arrest here today charged with embezzling $209,000 of the bank's funds, the authorities asserted they are on the trail of one of the most stupendous bank wrecking rings ever operated in the United States.

An active search was started for Joseph B. Marcino, alias Blatia, alias Moffere whom the police declare to be a "financial wizard"—a "second Ponzi." Marcino, they assert, figured in half a dozen financial collapses in the last year.

Taylor, who was arrested in a flat here where he had been living quietly since his flight from Warren, Mass., said today that he was merely a "cat's paw" of Marcino's ring.

Marcino, according to Chief Examiner Hadley, of the New York State Insurance Commission and to records of the Burns Detective Agency, was responsible for irregular transactions in two banks in California. He went east from Chicago a year ago and obtained control of the Niagara Life Insurance Company of Buffalo, and the Mechanics' and Merchants' Bank of Philadelphia.

The insurance company was taken over by the insurance commissioner on February 14 because of "gross mismanagement." Last week the Philadelphia bank failed with a shortage of $130,000.

Marcino, using the name of Motferre, according to the Burns Agency, bought control of the bank of Perris, Cal., in 1917, and when the institution left his hands it had lost about $40,000. He is also alleged to have obtained stock in the Harbor City Savings Bank of San Pedro, Cal., from which he realized a profit of $8,500. He is said, also, to have had dealings with banks in Ottawa, Ill., and other middle west cities.

Taylor and Marcino's scheme was to obtain a certain amount of controlling stock in each contemplated venture and to use "dummy" stockholders in making a "clean up." He said Marcino was assisted by his father-in-law, Abraham Goldman, of Chicago. Goldman was to be questioned today.

HARDING PLANS FOR VACATION GOING AHEAD

Washington, Feb. 22.—Undeterred by the turmoil of the closing days of Congress, plans are going steadily ahead at the White House for the Harding trip to the South next month. Virtually complete arrangements have been made for every detail, train schedules are being drawn up and invitations to make the trip have been extended to a few of the president's intimates.

President and Mrs. Harding, according to the present schedule will leave Washington on the night of March 5, proceeding direct by train to St. Augustine, Fla. Accompanying them will be Secretary of War and Mrs. Weeks, Attorney General Daugherty, Secretary to the President Christian and Mrs. Christian, Brig. General and Mrs. Sawyer and probably Chairman Lasker of the shipping board.

PARTICIPATION BY U. S. IN EUROPEAN POLITICS PREDICTED BY LAW

British Premier Declares in Washington Birthday Speech
That America Will Enter When Opportunity
Affords.

London, Feb. 22.—American participation in European politics was predicted today by Premier Andrew Bonar Law in a Washington's birthday speech before the English speaking union.

"I believe that when the opportunity offers, the American government no longer will stand aloof from the troubles of the old world," said the premier. "The effect of America's withdrawal from Europe after peace was declared cannot be calculated."

After outlining some of the troubles facing Europe, the premier continued: "If the United States could participate in peace as she did in war, it would be better for the world. But I believe the truth has begun to enter the minds of Americans. 'There must be co-operation and amity between the English speaking countries. I feel that it is not too much to hope that an actual working union between the United States and Great Britain will come soon."

Premier Bonar Law eulogized the memory of George Washington, saying:

"It is a tribute to British magnanimity that we can look upon Washington, who took a great republic from us, not as a British enemy at all."

As to America's part in the war, Premier Bonar Law said: "America entered the war with nothing to gain and much to lose. Her entry perhaps had decisive effect. Neither nations nor individuals are able to continue the selfish atmosphere in which they lived in war time."

"America took a great part in the peace, but the President of the United States at that time misconceived the opinion of the American people. In consequence the United States withdrew from Europe before peace was secured."

The premier paid tribute to America and Great Britain impartially. The past war emphasized, he said, that the world has much to expect from close unity between the English speaking peoples.

"After the war we had a period of moral relaxation," declared Bonar Law. "But I am happy to say that we are now recovering from that relaxation."

TAKEN IN BIG JEWELRY THEFT

Matthew D. Biddulph

Matthew D. Biddulph, alias John F. Derby, alias R. A. Marshall, was arrested in Albany, New York, and taken to New York City, where he confessed he was one of three men who seized Mrs. Irene Schoellkopf, wife of a multi-millionaire Buffalo man, in a New York apartment and robbed her of $500,000 worth of jewels while she was attending a New Year's Eve party in the studio of Frank Carman, her paid companion and dancing partner. Biddulph asserted he had in turn been robbed of all the gems by his two confederates, who have not been apprehended.

ENGLAND DENIES CONCESSIONS TO FRANCE IN RUHR

Report That Britain Has
Given Up More Territory
Branded as False

SITUATION TENSE

Germans Seeking to Keep
British Troops On the
Rhine

London, Feb. 22.—A report from Paris that Great Britain is making further concessions to France in the Cologne military zone was formally denied by the foreign office today. According to this report the British were giving up more territory and additional railways to the French.

British officials said that, on the contrary, the British were resisting the renewed requests of the French. They declared that the borders of the British area of military occupation on the Rhine are being adjusted in such a way that British is giving up less territory to France than was planned when the Letroquer-Bonar Law conference was held here last week.

"The situation is so delicate that the British are making preparations to withdraw from Cologne if any incidents take place," said a Cologne dispatch to the Daily Express, today. It was understood that the cabinet had agreed to military withdrawal without a formal ministerial vote if conditions warranted immediate action.

The Germans are using all their efforts to keep the British on the Rhine and are offering concessions of every kind.

Supporters of Premier A. Bonar Law have been notified to keep in closer touch with events, as the situation has become so tense that developments of grave importance may take place at any time.

The government was nearly caught napping last night in the House of Commons when the amendment to the old age pensions bill was called up. The government supporters were mostly absent and Premier Bonar Law's forces won by only 22 votes.

Advices from Paris say that French government officials expect Germany to give up within a few weeks and accept France's terms for evacuation of the Ruhr, but the foreign office claims to have no official information on the subject.

KING OF ITALY SIGNS ARMAMENT TREATY OF U. S.

France Is Now Only Nation
That Has Not Ratified
the Document

Rome, Feb. 22.—King Victor Emmanuel, of Italy, today signed the Washington conference treaty for limitation of naval armaments.

The treaty was recently ratified by the Italian Parliament.

Acceptance by Italy leaves only one nation—France—that has not approved the pact.

The powers that have ratified are the United States, Japan, Great Britain and Italy.

KLAN EMBERS ARE SEEN IN CAPITAL

Columbus, Feb. 22.—Dying embers of a Ku Klux Klan cross were found by firemen at the outskirts of Columbus last night.

The firemen had responded to a telephone call from a hysterical woman who declared that a telephone pole was burning "terribly."

Although the fire laddies saw no signs of hooded persons, Lynn Revenaugh, secretary of the Ohio State Dry Goods Association, was informed over the phone that he should leave Columbus immediately. The fellow voicing the command said he was "the grand whiteman of the Ku Klux Klan."

Revenaugh promised to shoot any masked individual, or individuals who bothered him.

FRENCH CABINET TO RECOGNIZE SOVIET

Paris, Feb. 22.—Overriding the opposition of President Millerand, of France the cabinet has unanimously voted to open negotiations with soviet Russia, which may eventually lead to recognition of the communist regime at Moscow. L'Echo National revealed today.

France is preparing to send a mission into Russia within a month to open negotiations on political and financial issues.

Paris, Feb. 22.—A statement printed by L'Echo Nation that the French cabinet, over riding all objections of President Millerand, has decided to open negotiations with soviet Russia, was formally denied by the foreign office this afternoon. A foreign office official said that France had no intention of entering political negotiations with Russia at present.

UNITED STATES MAY RECOGNIZE MEXICO

Washington, Feb. 22.—Steps are being taken by the state department toward removal of barriers leading to recognition between the United States and Mexico. Officials declared that the move of President Oregon to have a commission of high class statesmen write a new interpretation of Article 27 of the Mexican constitution is the most practical suggestion yet made by a Mexican authority. This commission, made up of five members, was appointed 10 days ago and already is at work in an effort to so define the article that it will be acceptable to the United States and at the same time guarantee for Mexico all of its rights. If these features are removed, it is believed recognition will not long be delayed.

STATE OFFICIALS ARE ENTERTAINED

Columbus, Feb. 22.—Governor Donahue, members of the State Legislature and other state officials were among the guests entertained with a special program at the Ohio State University.

Following a sight seeing tour of the university campus, the visitors witness a cadet review and artillery salute to the governor, followed by a social session in the oval. A noon luncheon at Ohio union was marked by an address by Dr. W. O. Thompson, president of the university.

This afternoon various messages buildings were visited, universities broadcasted by radio and an informal reception held in Pomeroy Hall. The guests will attend the Michigan-Ohio state basketball game at the coliseum tonight.

SAY GERMANY PREPARING FOR WAR

Position of Ship Subsidy
Bill Now Strengthened

Filibuster Against Measure Continued In Senate Thursday—Opposition Still Optimistic of Victory.

Washington, Feb. 22.—The ship subsidy bill, although officially displaced from its preferred position as "the unfinished business" of the Senate, was sailing through the same rough waters today as the coalition "battalion of death" continued a filibuster against its passage.

Supporters of the measure were in a slightly stronger position as a result of strategic maneuvers which enabled them to finally enact the army appropriation bill, the last of the great government supply measure which had been caught behind the legislative jam caused by the filibuster.

The parliamentary tactics, however, forced the administration leaders to face two test votes before the subsidy can again be brought under senatorial conditions. A motion by Senator Jones, Republican of Washington, to take up the subsidy again was pending when the senate convened but leaders of the filibuster announced they would immediately move to substitute the Ladd "filled milk" bill.

This brought the subsidy back to practically the same position it occupied yesterday but with the army supply bill out of the way. If the administration can defeat the Ladd motion, it can also return the subsidy to its preferred position. Administration leaders predicted a majority vote on both sides.

FAITH OF WIFE IN HUSBAND WILL BE REWARDED SOON

Cincinnati, Feb. 22.—Mrs. Leroy McKinney, whose husband is in the Ohio penitentiary at Columbus for a murder confessed Tuesday by Louis Vandervort, son of a wealthy Greene County farmer, today awaited the release of McKinney, cheered by knowledge that freedom would be granted within a few hours. Legal formalities must precede his absolute release.

McKinney was sent to the penitentiary eight months ago for the murder of Patrolman McCreight at Wilmington a year ago. The trial resulted in a sentence of life imprisonment, but the young wife of the convict refused to believe, retaining implicit confidence that ultimately Leroy would be cleared.

A dramatic meeting took place late yesterday at Wilmington when Mrs. McKinney confronted Vandervort, whose confession brought a promise of speedy pardon from the governor. The youth sat with downcast eyes, refusing to look at the wife of the man who had been sentenced to a life behind bars for the crime that Vandervort admitted. He refused to answer questions but if he had not averted his glances he would have read in her face an expression of pity rather than of malice.

"We had an argument, and I got sore and shot him, standing six feet away," was the brief comment of the young farmer regarding the murder.

Mrs. McKinney obtained from Clinton County court attaches documentary evidence of the confession, which will be the basis of steps for her husband's release.

REPORTS THAT OHIO IS BECOMING DRIER

Washington, Feb. 22.—Prohibition Director J. E. Russell of Ohio declared here that illicit users of alcohol and whisky are being driven out of Ohio. Russell conferred with Prohibition Commissioner Haynes relative to his conference at Columbus next Tuesday with dry sleuths from throughout Ohio. In January, Ohio legal withdrawals of alcohol totaled but 18,590 gallons against 31,078 gallons in January, 1922. Whisky withdrawals were but 1,912 gallons against 4,634 the previous January. Fear of the "padlock" act, Russell said, is discouraging many Ohio bootleggers.

Haynes took occasion to praise Russell, whom he termed "one of the best enforcement officers in the federal prohibition organization."

RED NEWSPAPER DECLARES PLANS ARE BEING LAID

Organization Formed Three
Years Ago Nucleus of Alleged Army

Berlin, Feb. 22.—The communist newspaper Rote Fahne (Red Flag), declared today that Germany has begun to make preparations for war.

According to the newspaper, Chancellor Wilhelm Cuno, minister of defense Gessler, and General Von Zekt, of the German military police, "participated in a meeting at which German's war capacity was discussed."

Rote Fahne asserted that General Von Zekt told his colleagues that it was possible to build up an army along the lines of the "Orgesch." He recommended that all possible munitions be placed at the disposal of the "Orgesch" as in the upper Silesian fighting between Germans and Poles.

(The Orgesch is a national organization formed in Germany three years ago for the "protection of national interests." France protested against the Orgesch on the ground it was a military organization, devoted to the training of future soldiers. This was vigorously denied by the Germans.)

According to Rote Fahne General Von Zekt demanded that civil officials "help in the war preparations."

CHARGE OF MURDER FOLLOWS SHOOTING

Cincinnati, Feb. 22.—Edgar Thomas 45 years old, wealthy lumberman of Bainbridge, Ohio, who last Tuesday night fatally shot Walter H. Hopf, 23 years old, 720 West Ninth Street, County Dog Catcher, was charged yesterday with murder following the death of Hopf yesterday morning at the General Hospital.

Attorneys Franklin Krehbiel and Edwin S. Morrissey obtained Thomas' temporary release on a $5,000 bond. Abe Golder and Otto Dahms, Goodall building, Ninth Street and Central avenue, professional bondsmen, are sureties for Thomas.

It was said there appears to have been reasonable grounds for the shooting, so a bond was arranged. Thomas claims self-defense as his motive for the killing. Thomas said he was discussing hold-ups with other patrons in the cafe of John Ott, 424 West Fifth Street, former Municipal Court Bailiff, when Hopf, without warning thrust a revolver against his abdomen.

He fired, fearing an attack, said Thomas, Hopf, who also was known as "Joe Lang," was shot in his head and left side. Thomas is to be arraigned today.

Mrs. Ruine formerly resided in this city, her husband, who died only a few months ago being employed as a telegraph operator for the Pennsylvania railroad, later moving to Columbus. Funeral services were conducted in Cincinnati Wednesday.

Toledo, Feb. 22.—Mrs. Noah Parquette, 72, is dying today and two others were seriously injured as a result of a gas explosion which wrecked the home of Mrs. Della Ducet on U. S. Street late last night. All are in a hospital.

Mrs. Parquette will probably lose her life as a result of her efforts to save her neighbor, Mrs. Ducet from suffocation. Dr. Ordway, her attending physician says she cannot live through the day, but that the others injured will recover.

OUTLOOK SERIOUS IN DUBLIN CITY

Dublin, Feb. 22.—The outbreak of the republicans in Dublin was the most serious since the battle in which the Free State forces stormed the irregular stronghold at Four Courts. The inferno resulted in the killing of two irregulars, the injury of two others and the capture of five. The most determined attack by the insurgents was made on the income tax office of the government, which was sprinkled with gasoline and set on fire while the staff was locked in the building. Six employees of the tax office were treated at the hospital for serious burns.

CITY COMMISSION WILL NOT MEET TILL FRIDAY NIGHT

Because Thursday, being Washington's Birthday, is a legal holiday, the meeting of the City Commission scheduled for Thursday night at which a successor to Mayor M. J. Hartley is to be elected, will not be held until Friday evening at the usual hour.

An ordinance passed in the early days of the commission-manager form of government in 1918, provides that when a meeting night falls on a legal holiday that the meeting should be postponed until the night following. As business transacted Thursday would have been illegal under this ordinance it was necessary to postpone the meeting.

Although a number of names have been mentioned as possible successors to the late mayor, Commissioners themselves kept their opinions to themselves and maintain that they do not know who the new commissioner will be. Among names whispered on the streets as those of possible successors to the vacancy on the commission body are those of H. L. Sayre, one time regular candidate for a commission seat, former Common Pleas Judge C. H. Kyle, Harry C. Sohn, and Frank McCurran. Others are also more or less prominently mentioned but the selection of a commissioner is still a matter of conjecture, it is understood.

The election of a commissioner to fill the vacancy requires the vote of three commissioners concurring. After the commission is again filled, a Mayor will have to be elected from its number to succeed Mayor Hartley, who held that position on the board. The new commissioner will be elected for a term of slightly less than three years.

BRYAN FAVORS NORRIS PROPOSAL

Washington, Feb. 21.—William J. Bryan made a special trip to the capitol to throw his influence behind the Norris resolution proposing an amendment to the federal constitution requiring that congress shall convene two months after election, instead of 13 months. Bryan expressed his views on the proposal to scores of Democratic representatives, who flocked out of the chamber to greet him. A number of Republicans likewise paid their respects.

"DON'T GET UP NIGHTS NOW"

Says Battle Creek Man, Had Bladder Trouble Three Years.

R. D. Nebbett, 18 Oak Street, Battle Creek, Mich., says: "Before taking Lithiated Buchu (Keller formula) I had to get up nights from three to five times. My back hurt me until I could hardly be still. My bladder bothered me most of the time. After three years, I am now completely cured. In two days I was feeling like a new man. Now I am doing real heavy work and feel that it is my duty to write you these words of thanks."

Lithiated Buchu (Keller formula) acts on the kidneys and bladder similarly as Epsom Salts on the bowels. It often removes abnormal deposits which cause irritation. Try a few doses for frequent desire at night, scalding, scanty or high colored urine. Lithiated Buchu Tablets (Keller formula) is not a cheap medicine. They cost 25c each and contain several drugs, which are useful to relieve "getting up nights."

Learn all about Lithiated Buchu (Keller formula) at Sayre and Hemphill's and drug stores everywhere, or write Keller Laboratory, Mechanicsburg, Ohio.

TURN HAIR DARK WITH SAGE TEA

If Mixed with Sulphur It Darkens So Naturally Nobody Can Tell

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible we are lying in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the musky mixture at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is that besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive.

TRIANGLE GROUP EVANGELISTIC SERVICES TO PRESENT LEADER KNOWN TO XENIA

With the approach of the series of evangelistic meetings, to be conducted in the city by the Triangle Group of Churches, composed of the First Presbyterian Church, Trinity M. E. Church at the First Reformed Church, at the First Presbyterian Church, February 25, interest is being manifested in church circles in connection with the meetings. The success of the coming meetings was forecasted by the recent series of prayer meetings held throughout the three church congregations.

Rev. and Mrs. Ralph E. Stewart will return to Xenia in connection with the evangelistic campaign with the Rev. Joseph S. Flacks.

The Rev. Mr. Stewart came to Xenia, two years ago, unannounced and gathered together more than 500 boys and girls and taught them Bible stories by means of objects and sleight of hand. At that time he promised the children he would return again and until now he has been unable to give any definite date.

The Rev. Mr. Stewart has been successful as a Children's Evangelist and has been likened to the Pied Piper, because of the children who flock to hear him. He has several object lectures, some of which he will give while he is in Xenia. They are "The Empty Box Full," "The Big Heart and The Heart Talk," "The Mysterious House," etc. Children's meetings will be held in the afternoon beginning at 4 o'clock and continuing for one hour. Music will play no small part in the forthcoming Evangelistic campaign conducted by the Rev. Joseph S. Flacks, noted Hebrew Christian, Bible teacher and evangelist and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Stewart. Children's Evangelist and Bible Teachers.

The music committee is composed of Dr. G. W. Kuhn, Mrs. H. C. Armstrong and Mrs. W. H. McGervey.

Already a large chorus choir has been organized and Mr. Stewart will meet with them Saturday at Reformed Church at 8 o'clock for a final rehearsal. All who desire to join are asked to be present that night. This chorus will sing through the entire campaign and many special musical selections will be featured. The Rev. Mr. Stewart is also a baritone soloist of ability having studied with William Clare Hall, tenor and vocal teacher, Chicago, Ill. He has given vocal concerts in Buffalo, LeRoy, Poughkeepsie and other cities.

There will also be organized a Booster Chorus composed of the boys and girls who will give a special program one of the evenings.

GOLFER MAY SMOOTH HEEL MARKS IN BUNKER, PREFERABLY AFTER SHOOTING

London, Feb. 22.—Dub golfers who have the majority of their troubles in the hazards have been given consideration. The Royal and Ancient St. Andrews committee has ruled that heel marks in a bunker are not actual hazards.

The Wimbledon Club sent the following query to St. Andrews:

"A player played a stroke in a bunker, but did not get the ball out. Before playing his next stroke he smoothed over with his foot the heel marks made by his stance."

"This in no way improved the lie of his ball, which lay several feet in front of the position from which it had been played."

"His opponent said: 'I think I could claim the hole, but I will not do so in the peculiar circumstances.'"

The St. Andrews decision was:

"Every golfer should smooth his heel marks in a bunker, but the proper time to do so is after the ball has been played from the bunker when no objection can be raised. In the circumstances the rules committee is of the opinion that the player did not incur any penalty."

ADMIT MEMBERSHIP IN KU KLUX KLAN

George E. McCord, superintendent of the Springfield public schools, admitted that he was a citizen of the Invisible Empire, Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, in testimony in the court of Police Judge Golden C. Davis in Springfield Wednesday in the case of conspiracy charged against W. M. Cortner, alleged klan leader.

The state did not complete calling witnesses Wednesday, although a number of Klansmen were placed on the stand who admitted membership in the organization and officers who participated in the raid on klan headquarters when 681 names and 34 klan robes were obtained, were also called to testify by the state.

In the meantime representatives of the American Legion from Springfield, Piqua, Troy, Covington and Tippecanoe City met in Troy and framed a petition which will be circulated among Legionnaires protesting against the words of State Commander Gilbert Bettmann, who demanded that members of the Legion should give up membership in the klan.

Smartly gownned women, seated at eighteen tables, arranged around the American Legion rooms, enjoyed Wednesday afternoon, with cards as the guests of Catherine Greene Chapter. Daughters of the American Revolution, in celebration of the birth of the country's first president, George Washington.

Simple but effective decorations of draped flags combined with palms and ferns were used about the rooms of the Post, where the guests enjoyed one of the most pleasant affairs on the calendar of the local D. A. R. chapter.

Five hundred or bridge amused the guests during the time, several of the women, choosing other forms of diversion. At each table, the high score holder was given a prize of a deck of cards. WEDDING PRETTILY SOLEMNIZED SATURDAY

The marriage of Miss Helen Mae Straley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Straley of Jeffersonville, to Mr. Elmer Simeri son of Mr. Elmer Simeri was solemnized in a pretty ceremony, Saturday, at the home of the bride's parents in Jeffersonville, the Rev. J. H. Longworth of the Methodist Protestant Church officiating.

Fifty guests witnessed the service. There were no attendants, the bride and bridegroom entering the guest circle for the ceremony, to the strains of the wedding march played by Mrs. George Straley of South Charleston. The vows were solemnized before an altar of greenery and pink bloom.

The bridal gown was a lovely creation, of white Canton crepe combined with lace with a veil of tulle. The bride's bouquet was of roses and sweet peas.

After a three-course wedding dinner, the couple left for a wedding trip the bride wearing away a costume of navy polart suit with pailsey blouse and hat and shoes ensuite. Mr. and Mrs. Simeri will reside on the Straley homestead four miles from Jeffersonville on the State road, where Mr. Simeri will be engaged in farming. Both he and his bride are graduates of Jeffersonville high school and attended normal school at Ohio University, Athens. They expect to complete their terms of teaching. Potted plants, with tall baskets of jonquills arranged in the living room of the home formed an attractive setting for the reading of the vows, the single ring ceremony being used. The bride wore a lovely frock of midnight blue taffeta with footwear of black. Her flowers were a corsage of valley lilies and white rose buds.

Later in the evening a two-course supper was served. The following covers were placed at the bride's table, Mr. and Mrs. Collier, Dr. and Mrs. V. F. Brown, Mrs. L. S. Johnston, Mrs. Homer Smith, Mrs. Will Thompson, Miss Juanita Rankin, Miss Frances Johnston, and Mr. Robert Collier.

CRIMINAL MADE, NOT BORN, AVER PSYCHOLOGISTS

Chicago, Feb. 22.—Criminals are made, not born, says the Chicago Crime Commission. It is home environment rather than mental abnormality that causes the youth of America to go wrong.

After more than a year of investigation, the report was made by the commission headed by Professor of Psychology Robert H. Gault, of Northwestern University. Associated with Professor Gault in his investigation, which covered the nation, were Dr. E. H. Ochsner, Dr. Ludwig Icktson, Major M. L. C. Funkhouser and Graham B. Crowsner, all of Chicago.

"Feeble-mindedness among criminals," the survey showed, "is not greater than among the army draft and the general population."

"Recently a report upon the levels of intelligence of more than 1,000 juvenile delinquents in Boston showed that youngsters of superior intellectual ability in the same group are of approximately the same number as those who are feeble-minded."

Reports on investigations at reformatories revealed the report said, that among 7,500 boy inmates about 50 per cent were members of what was termed "crippled families"—families in which one or both parents were dead or otherwise separated permanently from their children.

As proof of its assertion that delinquency frequently has inception in such "crippled families," the commission points out that reliable figures show that about 25.3 per cent of the children of 18 years or under of the country are attached to such families.

"If the 'crippled' condition of the family were of no importance," the report argues, "only 25.3 per cent instead of more than 50 per cent of these boys should come from such homes."

City life is more conducive to juvenile delinquency than country life, the survey revealed.

Absence of certain factors, tending to create youthful criminals, found in every city of size, was the explanation given for the smaller number of young criminals found in rural communities.

Responsibility for counteracting these factors is placed squarely upon the parent by the commission.

"Those influences must be counteracted in the home," the report asserts. "The obligation to discover the formula in each individual case in-squared on the shoulders of the parents, and they cannot evade it."

The disregard with which many parents view the prohibition law was especially deplored by the makers of the report as a most important element in leading youths to view all law with like disregard.

BANK ROBBERY IS FINALLY CLEARED

Warren, Mass., Feb. 22.—The looting of the First National Bank here of $213,000 in negotiable securities was cleared up today by the locating of the bonds at Buffalo, N. Y., according to John A. Packard, New England manager of the William J. Burns detective agency, which brought about the arrest at Chicago of the bank's president, Frank L. Taylor.

The bonds located at Buffalo were disposed of there by Joseph B. Marcino, alleged "master mind." Marcino, according to Packard, has wrecked at least six banks in this country during the past year and is wanted in France, Italy and other European countries for similar operations. He was several times forced to flee his native land, Italy, according to Packard, who termed him "one of the most notorious bank wreckers in the world."

BIT OF WHITE LIMESTONE REVEALS APPEALING LOVE STORY IN DAYS OF ANCIENT PHAROAH OF EGYPT

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 22.—It is only a bit of white limestone—less than two and one-half inches long—bearing queer marks.

Yet it reveals one of the most appealing love stories of all history, and provides the background for the reign of King Tut-Ankh-Amen, Egyptian Pharaoh, whose tomb just now is giving up priceless historical treasures.

It is the marriage scarab of King Amen-hotep, III, father of Tut-Ankh-Amen, the only one in the United States and rests on a shelf at the museum of Anthropology of the University of California here.

Sister marriage was the unviolated practice of the Egyptian royal family until King Amen-hotep, III, married

Tut-Ankh-Amen rose to the kingship not by virtue of his father, but by marriage. He married the third daughter of Amen-hotep IV, his half brother, thereby making the half-brother his brother-in-law. Amen-hotep had married his sister at the age of 13. He was better known as Akhenaton, the heretic king.

There are two of the marriage scarabs in the collection. The larger and most perfect one bears in addition to the name of Queen Titi, those of her parents, King Amen-hotep known as the magnificent, did not try to hide his great love, the very language of the scarab shows, according to Prof. Lutz.

Tut-Ankh-Amen was not the son of Titi, according to Prof. H. F. Lutz, Egyptologist of the University of California, who deciphered the hieroglyphics on the tiny scarab and traced the love tale through the mazes of ancient Egyptian history.

Amen-hotep III had a large harem and Tut-Ankh-Amen was the son of one of these commoner wives.

THE ART OF DOING WITHOUT.

There is an art that all men should covet. It is possessed by few. The average American is eating his heart out because he does not even know it exists. It is the art of doing without. Art did we say? Certainly. Rather it is good sense. It is wisdom. Nay, verily, it is an art. You can study it. You can practice it; for it is a matter of will rather than of the intellect. Do you have the power to deny yourself? Can you check yourself to say "No" to yourself? Ah, that is an art.

The average American thinks that money is to spend, not to save. He squanders even in the appeals of thrift, and walks along the border of poverty ready to fall over if he is out of work one week. The great majority live within two weeks of starvation and the poorhouse. Many live up their salary and wage before it is made. They laugh in the face of the grim warning of debt. Frugality has never even crossed their path. Thrift, its twin, has never even thrown its shadow over their last intention. Money is to spend. Things are made to have and enjoy.

Hear this warning: If you are to have riches or wealth or possessions, you must be willing to pay the price of denying yourself by beginning early in life. You must learn the art of doing without. If you are not willing, then do not envy those who have, because they were willing to pay the price of self-denial and to practice the art of doing without that they might have possession.

ALL PROFIT FROM ADVERTISING.

The net profits of the William Wrigley, Jr., Company for 1922 were $6,146,635. This profit was piled up from the sale of five cent packages of chewing gum. The sale of hundreds of millions of packages were necessary to pile up this profit.

And these sales were made possible by the expenditure of millions of dollars for advertising. There are other chewing gums possibly as good as Wrigley's, but the public knows Wrigley's is good because it is advertised. If it were not good Wrigley could not afford to advertise it.

The Wrigley company has proven beyond question that advertising is the cheapest sale force that can possibly be employed. The same sales force will sell any other good product.

AN AUTO GENERATION.

According to Collier's Weekly, of the 20,000,000 automobiles owned in this country, only about one-eighth of the owners can afford to ride in automobiles. These figures are based on statistics and tax records which show the percentage of people who have an income sufficient to warrant them in owning an automobile.

Of course these figures are not wholly dependable. But it is no difficult task to make a reliable estimate in one's own community. It is startling to note the number of people who own cars that can not afford them. Much of the trouble in a business way in this country is due to the fact that too much money is burned up in joy-riding. Many a man has indulged in dishonest practices and gone bad simply because he has tried to keep up with the automobile procession on a wheel-barrow income. It can't be done. It leads to trouble.

But it is a psychological condition. Society as a whole is as much or more to blame than an individual. We have come to estimate men and women too largely by the car they ride in. And the man who does not own a car seems to feel that he is alone in the world, and is, in a measure. People wonder what is wrong with the man who walks to and from his business these days. Why? Because we are afflicted with auto-ataxia.

The automobile has such a wide place in both business and pleasure that nothing will displace it. But it is a question if some economic system will not have to be worked out that will make it less of a drain on lean pocketbooks, and less of a social thermometer. In business it has come to be a necessity. As a pleasure vehicle nothing has ever equaled it. But nothing that has preceded it has so affected the judgment of people and caused them to overreach themselves.

WHY NOT DISCUSS IT?

With neck arched and back bowed, the Senate settles down to a two weeks' endurance grind over the ship subsidy. Most of its other actual work is done. The Army Bill needs a few touches and the hoppers are full, as always, of farm legislation, but the subsidy is the remaining real business of the Senate.

Supposedly, it will be under consideration most of the time till March 4. Actually, its opponents will talk about everything else on earth and the waters beneath the earth.

Since it happens that this Ship Subsidy Act has never been really considered, thought out, talked out, fought out and discussed in the Senate, why shouldn't that body talk about it while killing the weary hours left to the Sixty-seventh Congress? It is an important measure and the problem it seeks to solve is national.

In the heat engendered by actual debate there might be light. Maybe the Senate might find a way of its own to end the present burden of $50,000,000 a year on the taxpayer. If there is a solution, the Nation would welcome it. If the Administration way was proved mistaken, then the country would know it, and that plan could die and pass unwept and unsung.

If the mills of Senate talk must grind, let them work on the grist they are supposed to be grinding instead of taking up the carfare of the District of Columbia, the alleged sins of the Anti-Saloon League and the shortcomings of the United States Supreme Court. If the Senate is, as it says, the greatest deliberative body in the world, it might at least deliberate and discuss the ship subsidy before smothering it to death in the kicked-up dust of a "farm-bloc" filibuster.—Public Ledger.

At the point where the accident occurred there is an embankment of six or eight feet and the car came within an ace of going over it.

YOUNG MOTHERS HINTS

I have tried in various talks to give a few useful beauty hints to prospective young mothers. And I have tried particularly to make them believe the theory that I have seen proved over and over again, that, far from spoiling one's beauty, having a child will often increase it.

Certain rules must be followed. The young mother must have sufficient rest or she will be dragged out and tired, and both figure and health will suffer.

She must wear the proper sort of support, maternity belt, maternity corset or abdominal belt, or the muscles will be dragged and strained and the young girl's charm of figure will depart. She must take care of her diet or her health and the baby's, to say nothing of the complexion, will suffer.

She must use cleansing cream frequently and perhaps a nourishing cream as well, for the skin of the face and neck often becomes curiously dry.

She must use a tonic on her hair or this will suffer greatly. She should really see a dentist every two months (or three, if her teeth are particularly sound) for much that goes normally to the hair and the teeth is diverted now into other channels. She must massage parts of her body with oil so the skin will stretch easily and more easily go back just as it was before.

Above all, she should keep in as tranquil and happy a frame of mind as possible for this has nervous and physical reactions which effect her and some people say the coming child. She should not listen to the rather horrible "old wives' tales" which will only upset her.

More progress, they say, has been made in the art of bringing children into the world in the last two years than in any other profession.

Blondy—Vaseline or any oil will make your light hair appear to be darker while you are using it but this will not interfere with the shade permanently.

Why not use a tonic that is better suited to your hair, one in which there are a number of ingredients, in such mixtures there will be oil and other things to cut it so the shade of the hair is not affected, if you need a formula for such a tonic, send me a self addressed envelope and I shall be glad to mail it to you.

Elsa D.—Walking is only one form of exercise so if you do not lose the 20 pounds way you should include other exercises that will bring all the muscles of the body into as much action as those used in walking.

Take many deep breaths while you walk as this is as effective in consuming the fatty tissue as the exercises. Substitute whole wheat bread for that made from white flour and balance your diet by eating fruit, green vegetables and salads to offset the starchy foods.

Today's Talk

IT'S WHAT YOU FEEL

It isn't the thing that you do that counts most, but what you feel as you do it.

Your sincerity of heart will tell all about you.

In the office where you work, you will stand apart as a worker. If you write, people will feel as you have felt.

If you speak, your words will lodge and stay to uplift and inspire. If you paint, the very picture itself will live and breathe anew in the eyes of every one that looks upon it.

Its what you feel in expression that is imperishable.

I looked upon a beautiful Rembrandt today. So warm were its colors so rich its form, that Rembrandt stood alive before me.

There is one thing that cannot be disguised, and that is your feeling. It is the real thing about anyone.

The books, the paintings, the buildings—no matter what—that were wrought in sincerity of spirit are those which live and which in their turn, have inspired all mankind. Your friend that you love, regardless of any fault, is of great worth to you because you know that honest feeling controls his life. You know that he is dependable.

It is impossible to do anything of a lasting nature that is not sincere with feeling behind it.

Remember, it is what you feel that is going to make you great—or happy.

PE-RU-NA

Made Her a Well Woman

No sufferer from catarrh of the stomach can read of this lady's experience as she tells it, without being thankful for the existence of a remedy like Pe-ru-na. Having known nothing but misery for years, Mrs. Van Buren's feeling of gratitude is not surprising. These are her words—"I have spent a great deal of money doctoring for catarrh of the stomach and at times have been compelled to give up my housework for days. For years I did not know a well day and cannot help but feel I would not be alive today had I not been induced to try Pe-ru-na. Six bottles of Pe-ru-na made me a well woman."

Pe-ru-na stimulates the digestion, aids elimination, increases the supply of pure blood and drives out the poisonous catarrhal secretions. Try Pe-ru-na first. It will save time, money and suffering.

BRYAN DECLARES NO WET WILL BE NAMED BY THE DEMOCRATS

Washington, Feb. 21.—William Jennings Bryan, in discussing the approaching presidential campaign, declared that "it is safe to say no 'wet' or Wall street man will be nominated by the Democratic party."

"The one outstanding fact in the last election was the growth of progressive sentiment in both parties," Bryan said. "There has been nothing since the election to indicate there has been any reaction."

Mr. Bryan was reminded of the recent statement of Representative Burke Cockran of New York in the house that the Democratic party need not nominate a presidential candidate in 1924 unless it writes a "wet" plank into the national platform. Bryan replied:

"Does Mr. Cockran expect a change in the constitution that would confine the vote to the underworld? It depends altogether upon the vote to which the Democratic party is going to appeal. A large majority of the American people are for prohibition and against any weakening of the law. The Democratic party has no chance of success unless it takes the side of the people and favors enforcement of the law."

MILLIONAIRE DIED BROKE IS BELIEF

Los Angeles, Feb. 2.—Filing for probate of the will of Earle Remington, who was murdered last Thursday night at the door of his home, revealed the fact that the young manufacturer, the mysteries of whose death has not yet been solved, died broke. By the will, which was made six months ago, Remington left to his wife all of his property except an insurance policy for $25,000, which is payable to his sister, who had loaned him that amount of money. His brother-in-law, one of the executors of the will, said that the estate is heavily encumbered and that the widow will receive little in addition to an insurance policy for $17,000. The police are trying to discover in what fashion Remington spent many thousands of dollars during the last six months.

WILL ARRANGE TO PAY DEBT TO U. S.

Washington, Feb. 21.—Czecho-Slovakia intends sending a debt funding commission to the United States to negotiate with the American world war foreign debt commission for a settlement of the $110,000,000 obligation owed the American government, according to an official dispatch from Prague received by the state department.

While the amount owed by Czecho-Slovakia is small when compared with the debts of France, Italy and Belgium, administration officials are obviously pleased at the first "break" in the continental bloc of international debtors.

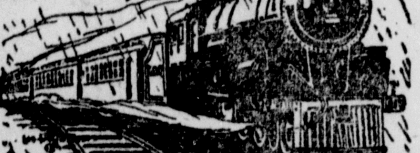

TAR EXPLODED IN FACTORY.

Toledo, Feb. 21.—Lives of workmen were in peril when a defective electric wire dropped into a tar kettle, causing an explosion in an auto top department of the Hettrick Brothers Manufacturing company. Hundreds of gallons of blazing tar spread over the room, setting fire to the west section of the building. The property loss is estimated at $200,000.

KING TUT NO NEARER THE APE THAN GENERAL GRANT SAYS BRYAN; BELIEF IS STRENGTHENED

Washington, Feb. 22.—King Tut doesn't seem to have been any nearer the ape than General Grant!

That from William Jennings Bryan who tells the intellectual world it is dead wrong in the theory man sprung from the worm and monkey.

Bryan was jubilant today over the discoveries of the body of Tut-Ankh-Amen down in the depths of his Egyptian tomb. It fixes as a certainty that man was through "revolving" from the monkey stage nearly 5,000 years ago, Bryan said.

That proven, Colonel Bryan feels he has a powerful additional argument to support his anti-Darwinian theory.

"It is difficulty to draw conclusions until you get all the facts," Col. Bryan commented on the work of the archaeologists.

"So far, however, the discoveries seem to indicate a highly advanced state of civilization, even at that remote period. There was evidently a belief in immortality—a belief in God."

"Now King Tut-Ankh-Amen appears to have been a man and no nearer the monkey stage than General Grant. Here the 'Great Commoner' exhibited the keenest mirth. He took this rather malicious shot at the evolutionists:

"If man came from the ape he must have quit coming before the Egyptian king took the throne. Man seems to have arrived on our earth a good while ago judging from the fact his civilization of three thousand years before Christ was in quite a high state of progress."

Colonel Bryan declared that the value of the Egyptian excavations can not be estimated until they are completed. Then he thinks years of study will be required to extract from the relics of yesterdays civilization their true meaning.

The Democratic leader expressed great interest in the revision of modern ideas of Egyptian civilization as a result of the treasures brought to light from the tombs of the pharaohs. But what the work may mean to modern times he did not attempt to predict.

MASONIC CLUB ENTERTAINMENT WILL BE POPULAR

Indications are that Masons, their relatives and friends from Xenia and all over Greene County will attend the Masonic Club party at City Hall Theater Thursday night when the club presents "The Community Players" of Dayton, in the farce, "The Man from Mexico" as the annual Masonic "club" Washington's Birthday party and this year's plan of giving a play instead of the usual dinner and speechmaking is a distinct departure from the program of other years.

The Community Players have been winning attention in Dayton and in other places where they have appeared. Consequently since the first of the year the company has been presenting the highly amusing farce, "The Man from Mexico," and Dayton critics have always spoken well of the production.

None of the performers are amateurs, all of them having had considerable stage experience. Frederick Howell the leading man, was with Blanche Ring a year and also appeared with Eddie Foy. Miss Pauline Currier plays opposite him, and all of the performers have been trained well by Miss Grace Silvers, head of the elocution department of the Steele High School, Dayton.

The play will be presented for members of the Masonic Club free, while other Masons and their friends will pay admission.

ATHLETIC CLUB PROPOSED FOR XENIA

MERCHANTS BEAT JAMES TOWN HIGH; FRESHMEN WIN
PLAN WOULD NEED 500 MEMBERS TO CARRY

Proposes Athletic Club

The proposal for a Xenia Athletic Club, to provide opportunity for gymnastic work for tired business men and others and offering other club facilities, is being advanced by Tom Pappas, of this city, who has been actively interested in similar organizations in Springfield.

Pappas hopes to obtain an expression from Xenia people on the proposal by putting out membership tickets in an attempt to interest 500 members in the Club. If the required quota is obtained he plans a meeting and election of officers and instruction of the officers to go ahead with the plan. If the quota is not obtained, it would be impossible to carry the project, Pappas believed.

The proposal is for the athletic club to organize with 500 members at annual dues of $6 a year, or $1 a month if paid that way. By obtaining gym quarters, instructors could be brought here from the Springfield Y. M. C. A. to instruct different classes nightly, he says. Thus on succeeding nights the classes could take up boxing, wrestling, gym work and calisthenics, basketball and handball, while one night could be reserved for women members to offer them the same opportunity. The gym would have to be equipped with weights, horses, dumbbells and other gymnasium equipment, and shower baths would also have to be provided.

If the club is put in operation, boxing shows could be staged there periodically which would enable it to pay for itself, as is done in other cities, according to Pappas. In the belief that there will be a sufficient number of people interested in the project to carry it out, he will have membership tickets printed and placed in drug stores, barbershops and pool rooms. Unless a sufficient membership is obtained the plan will not be attempted and no money will be accepted, he says.

Dayton, Feb. 21.—Reaching an altitude of 15 feet, the de Bothezat helicopter remained in the air for two minutes and 45 seconds during a flight at McCook field this morning. Major Thurman H. Bane, former commandant at McCook field, piloted the helicopter on the flight. Dr. George de Bothezat inventor and builder of the machine, declared it did not fall below 10 feet at any time during the flight. Tests will be held each day suitable for flying, according to de Bothezat.

FOLLIES PLAYS TO BIG AUDIENCE ON THE SECOND NIGHT

Not an available seat was left in City Hall Theater Wednesday night, when the Phi Delta Follies of 1923, were presented for the second and last time, and the appreciative audience voiced the comment that the 1923 edition was the best of the annual Follies.

As usual with amateur performances, Wednesday night's offering was delivered with more success than the opening night, the action moving along swifter, and the production coming to an end much earlier than on the opening night.

Misses Elizabeth Mullen and Mildred Mason in their delightful tomfoolery and their rendition of "Mrs. Gallagher and Mrs. Sheen" were again chronic laugh-producers. While the Sutton music store set in the second half was again a big hit of the performance ranking with the "Nightmare Blues," offered by Curtis Thompson and chorus and "They Call It Dancing," with Bob Owens and chorus. The blackface perisage of Bill Sorner was again well received.

Many pretty songs were used in the Follies, both in the first and second parts. Miss Gladys Shadrach sang very prettily, "Lady of the Evening," one of the prettiest songs of the show. She was supplemented by a clever chorus. "I Have the Blues Because the Men All Stay Away," written by Miss Helen Hurley and Bob Hurley, both words and music, was well rendered by Miss Louise Keyes, and was a pleasing bit of the first part. "Name It Yourself," was talked off by Pillsbury and Sutton and offered a clever and clever bit of nonsense that was well received. Miss Doris Whittington had the right stage personality to put her song, "Who Cares?" across the footlights well, and she was assisted by the girls in the first part.

The Sutton music store scene opened the second act, and those taking part were John Sutton, William Horner, in blackface, Misses Cleo Hurley, and Helen Hurley and Don Currie, Forest and Bob Hurley. Many pleasing musical numbers were offered in this setting, "Mammy Weep No More," was a take off on the phonograph record, "Carolina in the Morning," one of the prettiest song numbers, featured Miss Helen Hurley and the Hurley Quartet. "Song of India," "Three O'clock in the Morning," and other numbers were well rendered by the orchestra, with Misses Helen and Cleo Hurley at the pianos, Bob Hurley playing banjo, Forest Hurley, the cornet, Don Currie, the saxophone, Bill Horner the drums and John Sutton the marimbaphone. Other pleasing vocal numbers included, "Lovin' Sam," by Miss Cleo Hurley, "Agra-vatin' Papa," by Miss Helen Hurley and chorus and "When McKay's Play That Song of Dear Old Dixieland," an original composition by Bob Hurley and John Sutton, rendered by Bob Hurley and chorus.

Members of Ohio Beta Beta Chapter, Phi Delta Kappa Fraternity, under whose auspices the Follies were presented, believed they will realize generously on the two nights' performances, which were staged and directed by Bob Hurley, assisted by John Sutton.

Tanlac Lost no Time Overcoming Stomach Trouble Declares Cleveland Switchman.

"Tanlac has bolstered up my appetite so that I'm always keen for a good meal and I don't have to limit myself now for everything agrees with me," is the statement made a few days ago by John M. Burke, 2616 W. 25th St., Cleveland, O., switchman for the N. Y. Central.

"My appetite had simmered down to almost nothing and indigestion caused such a burning, bloating feeling in my stomach that I almost dreaded to sit down to a meal. I had severe headaches and dizzy spells and my back ached terribly. I was so nervous I couldn't half sleep and it was certainly hard for me to keep going."

"But Tanlac has switched me back on the track to good health and I feel so grateful towards the medicine it's about all I want to talk about these days. Why, I have gained ten pounds in weight and can throw switches with any of the boys now. I can't say enough for Tanlac and my wife is also very enthusiastic over what it has done for me."

SENATE READY TO PROBE VET BODY CHARGES

Await Arrival of Forbes Before Beginning Investigation

Washington, Feb. 22.—The arrival of Colonel Charles R. Forbes, resigned, director of the United States veterans' bureau, who is expected to reach New York from Paris Friday, is all that is delaying the special senate committee which is investigating charges of waste and mismanagement.

Evidence, which, it is said, will point to a verification of the epitomized estimate made by a high American Legion official, who characterized the bureau as "the great American pork barrel," already has been placed before the committee, it was learned here.

Summed up, the officials and ex-service leaders quizzed charge: Existence of an organized conspiracy to defraud the government in the sale of surplus army supplies allocated to the bureau, which may bring indictment of several former officers of the veterans' bureau; payment of excessive rentals for schools and hospitals and offices used by the bureau in carrying out its work; "grabs" by construction and material firms in connection with the building of hospitals; favoritism shown certain real estate owners in the amounts paid for building sites, and general destruction of the personal morale of the bureau following the expose of the above conditions.

Based on the evidence submitted and other material investigated by the department of justice, the veterans' bureau is alleged to have taken the lead as the haven for "friends" of deserving political henchmen.

The veterans' bureau was organized 22 months ago to serve disabled and maimed veterans of the world war. It has been liberally provided with funds by congress, that body having recently appropriated approximately $500,000,000 for its maintenance for the next fiscal year. Investigators, members of congress and various ex-service representatives charge that nearly one-fourth of this amount has been either wasted or misappropriated. The hospitals, schools and offices involved in the charges are located in all sections of the country.

Senators on the investigating committee, as well as those close to President Harding, are firm in their belief that Colonel Forbes will be in no way involved when the expose is made.

But miraculous as it may seem, the bureau has been fairly well managed in spite of the political pie-cutting. Officials here point to the excellent job done by Acting Director George E. Hays, who has been at the helm during the absence of Director Forbes. Revelations of the past three weeks have affected the bureau more than anything else, say observers who have closely watched the organization function.

On what? Why the cost of advertising your Public Sale in these columns, very similar to this ad, the cost is little compared to WHAT YOU GET. You get a REAL crowd, live buyers, from all parts of the county, men that have read about your sale in these columns, and have considered your goods, and come to your sale knowing what you have, in DETAIL. They have read their paper, usually at night, when they HAVE time, and consequently YOUR ADVERTISEMENT s NEWS, and they read it, clear through, just the same as regular news of the happenings of the day. Stop and think, now arent YOU reading THIS? What made you do it? Why answer THAT in your own mind—the big words, "PUBLIC SALE" at the top, and the pictures of the horse and the steer in this ad. They instantly caught your eye and out of curiosity naturally you are reading all this. Now isn't that exactly what you would like to happen when YOUR ad appears in this paper? Three thousand farm-house homes pay for this paper, in advance, that they may have the news of the day, so why wouldn't your ad inserted three times previous to your sale be seen, and read. That's why the crowd turns out to the successful sales, they see it in this paper. You choose the best auctioneer, in your judgment, why not have the largest crowd there that is possible, for him to sell to? You owe it to yourself. The bigger the crowd the bigger the sale.

NEWSPAPER OF 1800 TELLS OF WASHINGTON'S FUNERAL

Local Resident Has Prized Copy of New York Publication

Mrs. George Davis of East Main Street, is the possessor of one of the few remaining copies of a newspaper bearing the date of 1800, which contains the account of the funeral of George Washington and other interesting historical events of that period. The paper, and the accounts it gives, are of particular interest in connection with the celebration of the birthday of The Father of His Country, Thursday.

The paper "The Ulster County Gazette" was a publication of Kingston (Ulster County), New York, published by Samuel Freer and Son, and was probably a weekly publication. The paper is of parchment texture, smaller than the present day paper, and is in perfect condition. The issue was handed down through the family of Mrs. Davis and is a treasured heirloom.

Probably the most interesting item in the paper is the account of the funeral of General Washington.

Each column of the paper, black-bordered in mourning for the death of the country's leader.

The account of the funeral as given, is headed by the words, "Washington Entombed," dated Georgetown, December 20, and reads: "On Wednesday last, the mortal part of the Washington, the Great—the Father of his Country, and the friend of man—was consigned to the tomb, with solemn honors and funeral pomp.

Multitude of persons assembled, from many miles round, at Mount Vernon, the choice abode and last residence of the illustrious chief.

There were the groves—the spacious avenues, the beautiful and sublime scenes, the noble mansion—but alas! the august inhabitant was now no more. That great soul was gone. His mortal part was there indeed; but ah! how often the spectacle of such worth and greatness, thus, to mortal eyes, fallen!—Yes! fallen! fallen!

"In the long and lofty portico where off the hero walked in all his glory, now lay the shrouded corpse. The countenance still composed and serene, seemed to depress the dignity of the spirit, which lately dwelt in that lifeless form! There those who paid the last sad honors to the benefactor of his country, took an impressive farewell view.

"On the ornament at the head of the coffin, was inscribed 'Surge ad Judicium'—about the middle of the Coffin, 'Gloria Deo,' and on the silver plate, General George Washington Departed this life on the 24th December, 1799 Mount Vernon.

"Between three and four o'clock, the sound of artillery from a vessel in the river, awoke afresh our solemn sorrow—the corpse was removed—a band of music with mournful melody melted the soul into all the tenderness of woe."

Tells of Procession

The account gives the formation of the procession, and continues: "When the procession, had arrived at the bottom of the elevated lawn, on the banks of the Potomac, where the family vault is placed, the cavalry halted, the infantry marched towards the Mount and formed their lines—the Clergy, the Masonic Brothers, and the Citizens descended to the vault, and the funeral service of the Church was performed. The firing was repeated from the vessel in the river, and the sounds echoed from the woods and hills around.

"Three general discharges by the infantry—the cavalry, and 11 pieces of artillery, which lined the banks of the Potomac back of the vault, paid the last tribute to the entombed Commander-in-Chief of the Armies of the United States and to the departed hero.

"The sun was now setting. Alas! the Son of Glory was set forever. No—the name WASHINGTON—the American President and General—will triumph over death. The unclouded brightness of his glory will illuminate the future ages!"

The expression of regret of the death of Washington from the United States Senate to the President, John Adams, is printed with the reply of President Adams. A poem, on the death of Washington written "by a young lady," also appears.

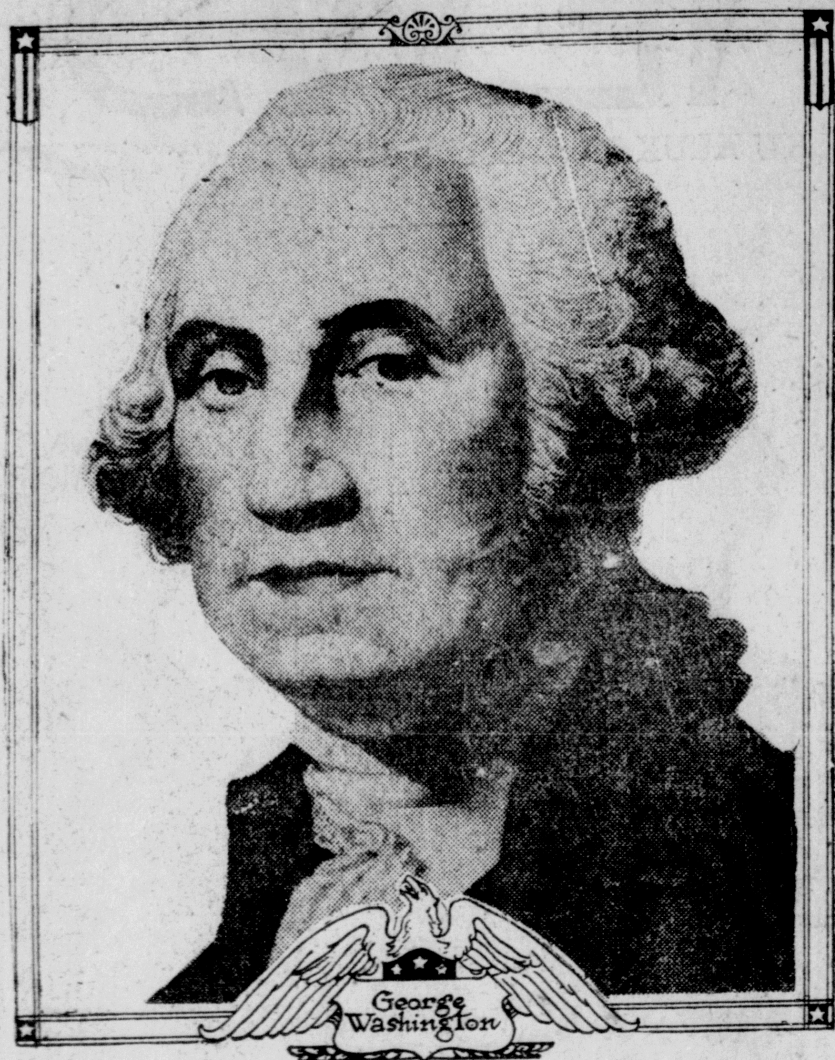

The delay in transportation, requiring weeks for a vessel to journey between the new States and the old World, bringing back news of the historical events among the leading European countries, is expressed in the statement: "The limits of our paper are to narrow this week for the great variety of foreign news received by the last mails. We shall however, lay before our readers short but comprehensive summary."

The accounts include the defeat of the Austro-Russians by the French October 8, 1799, the seizure of Spanish frigates bound for the Havanas, with three million and a half dollars, by the four British frigates, and safely carried into Plymouth, "young lady" also appears.

determine how the sensitiveness begins in the first instance, but it has been found possible to "sensitize" animals to various allergens by various means.

Once they are sensitized they remain so for years and a fresh contact will cause them to become ill. Treatment of the allergen has been found difficult, for administration of certain drugs and sera have been found to aggravate rather than check the disease.

Some drugs and sera have been shown to become allergens for certain people. A careful study of the medical history of the patient always is essential before treatment can be safely administered.

POSTAL AVIATORS PEACE-TIME ACES

Washington, Feb. 19.—Aviation "aces" did not become extinct with the termination of the World War.

The Post Office Department boasts of several "aces" today. The ace of aces, in respect to the number of miles flown in the Air Mail Service, is J. H. Knight, of Omaha, Nebraska, who, according to the official records has flown 146,729 miles.

Closely pressing him for honors is E. G. Leonhardt, of Cleveland, O., who has covered 142,750 miles in transporting mails. Both pilots are veterans in the trans-continental service of the Air Mail Service. Knight became a pilot on June 25, 1919, and Leonhardt joined the service on September 19, 1919.

Knight flies the Central Division route from Iowa City to Rock Springs Wyoming, and Leonhardt wings his way over mountains and plains on the Eastern Division from New York to Iowa City. Both fliers saw service with the American Expeditionary Forces during the war.

MCKINNEY WILL NOT SEEK PARDON--SAY VANDERVOORT PLANNED TO MAKE ESCAPE

Reports that efforts would be made by the wife of Roy "Mac" McKinney, who is serving sentence for the murder of Emory McCreight, Wilmington policeman a year ago, to obtain a pardon from the Governor, was denied at Wilmington Thursday.

McKinney, who was vindicated of the crime by the confession of Louis Vandervoort, 21, of near Jamestown, and his subsequent sentencing to the penitentiary for life, will not seek a pardon which is also not the proper legal procedure, but hopes to have the conviction in Wilmington wiped off the records by a new trial and complete vindication.

The procedure as outlined by Wilmington authorities includes an appeal of the case to the Court of Appeals now sitting in Cincinnati, asking for a new trial on the grounds of additional evidence and have the case remanded to Clinton County Common Pleas Court

EAGLES TO PRESENT INDOOR CIRCUS AND BAZAAR IN MARCH

A huge indoor circus and bazaar will be staged at the Rink the week of March 5 to March 10, inclusive, under the auspices of Xenia Aerie, No. 1689, Fraternal Order of Eagles, according to plans just completed by the lodge members.

The affair will be the first entertainment of that kind ever held in Xenia, members say, and the Aerie is getting strongly behind the movement to make the week's program a success. The entertainment program will include some of the best circus and vaudeville acts obtainable calculated to furnish a variety of entertainment for both young and old.

The program is being prepared under the personal supervision of Mr. Mosher of the Gus Sun Amusement Company, and will include such artists as the Voltaires, Paul and Louise Ellis, Bert Geyer and flying ring, trapeze, equestrian, balancing, slackwire and juggling acts. The Rink will be transformed in a bower of springtime if plans of the decorations committee are carried out. The booth arrangement will present the appearance of a huge summer garden, with trellis work interwoven with flowers and a lavish use of colors, including the national colors and the emblems of the Eagles.

All concessions will be under the supervision and operated by members of the local Aerie and will offer a variety of merchandise. The luncheon and refreshment concession, however, has been granted jointly to the Greene County Chapter, American Red Cross and the Social Service League; the receipts to go to the relief and welfare fund of these organizations.

A number of contests will feature the week, the most prominent of which will be the "Queen," or "Popularity Contest," which is open to any young woman in the community and offers to those obtaining the largest number of votes, not only the title of the carnival but also handsome prizes including a diamond ring, wrist watch, mesh bag, Dorrine case and numerous other prizes. Entrants in this contest must be enrolled prior to the opening or before 7:30 o'clock Monday evening, March 5, and each entrant will be given a start of 1,000 votes. For every penny received as a donation for the Aerie a vote will be given, and entrants may ask anyone to subscribe to the benefit. Entrants must be on duty each night and must give a report nightly, the results to be kept on a bulletin board at the Rink. Votes may also be sent in if marked to whose credit they are meant and addressed to the Popularity Committee.

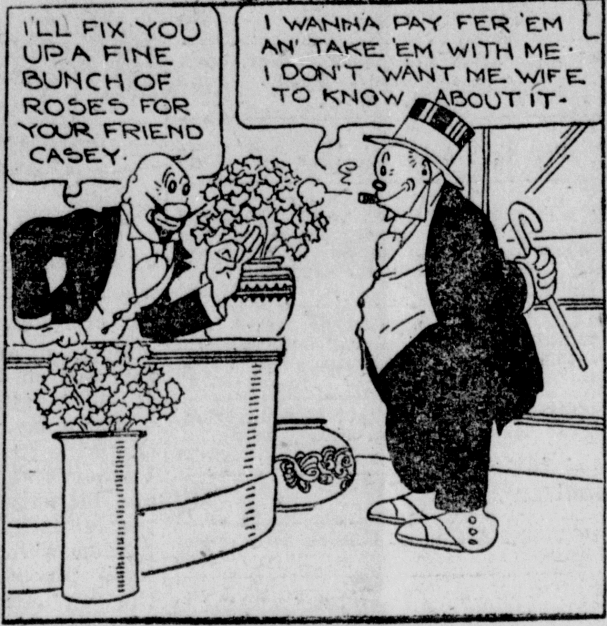

Inquiries regarding the contest may be addressed to this committee or information will be furnished by telephoning the Eagles' Hall.

A committee consisting of Ohmer Mason, Elmer Shoemaker, Joe Pealy and Sidney Gable is in charge of general arrangements for the affair. An admission of ten cents will be charged.

A PURITAN WIFE

CHAPTER XV.

"Ann, let me present Hugh Norton, a friend of Ned's."

Until Grace spoke Ann wondered who the good-looking young man could be.

She had not heard them arrive and Grace had called out to her from the open door, the young man now raised his hat and stepped forward, a few steps behind her.

Ann flushed with embarrassment. She had been making cake, and her bungalow apron covered her dainty morning dress; there was flour on her hands, and she wondered if there wasn't some on her face.

But she greeted the young man pleasantly, apologizing for her appearance.

"Oh, Ann's a regular little house cat!" Grace explained. "She's like a domestic kind. Likes to wash dishes and cook! Ugh!" then to Ann: "Where's Dick? I'll leave Mr. Norton to entertain you while I go and find him."

"He's working in the lemon orchard this morning."

Tell him to come in soon. You will stay for luncheon, of course? This last to Hugh Norton who was looking at her with admiring eyes.

"It would be delightful if we won't put you out?" he replied, while Grace called over her shoulder:

"Of course we'll stay! Dick never would get over it if I didn't!"

Again Ann flushed, this time with annoyance. Why would Grace say such things? And before a stranger.

"Is there anything I can do to help, Mrs. Belden?" Norton asked. "It's rather an imposition for us to come in upon you like this."

"Not at all," Ann replied, forgetting her embarrassment because of his easy manner. "We are always glad to company."

He told her a bit of himself, that he was with an uncle on a ranch the other side of the Prentice's. That he had been away for several months, which accounted for his not meeting them.

Then he insisted he must help her, so she gave him the peas to shell, while she busied herself with other things.

When Dick and Grace came in Norton was helping Ann set the table.

"Just look at that picture of perfect domesticity, Dicky!" Grace exclaimed. "I bring Hugh Norton over to meet you and he straightaway becomes Ann's slave."

This is Dick, Hugh. You've heard enough about him to dispense with formality."

"I hope you haven't heard anything very bad," Dick said as they shook hands.

"Gad, no! Nothing but praise! You'll have a lot to live up to, I can tell you, Belden, if you prove to be all Grace claims you are."

"I'm prejudiced! I'm terribly in love with Dick, have been ever since I met him. Love at first sight wasn't it, Dick?"

"Sure! On my side anyway," he replied laughing, then excused himself to wash up.

Ann happened to look at Norton while Grace had been chattering talking of her love for Dick, and she thought she caught a sudden flash of surprise in his eyes, followed by one of pity.

Did he—could he think it true? That Dick loved Grace—that she loved Dick? He must not think that. So Ann talked a bit hysterically for her, explaining that no one paid any attention to what Grace said, that Dick invariably agreed with her just for fun.

Ann had liked Hugh Norton at once. His simple way of helping her, making himself one of them instead of company, pleased her.

Dick too, seemed to enjoy their guest. He was always hospitable, and urged Norton to come over whenever it was convenient.

"I'm a pretty busy man, but Ann's always in the house and she'll be glad to see you."

"Of course she will! Hugh will help her wash the dishes!" Grace broke in.

"I surely will if I find her doing them," he returned, glancing sharply at Grace.

Ann saw his glance and interpreted it rightly: Grace was trying to belittle her, her love of home, her domesticity.

Suddenly Ann felt she had found a friend, that Hugh Norton would be that to her.

Her embarrassment over Grace's speeches, he had at once perceived and resented them because of it. She felt a sudden lightness of spirit. It was nice to have someone who understood.

And she laughingly told Dick how she had been caught in her bungalow apron, her hands all flour, making a joke of it all in her lively way.

"You had some on your face too," Grace said, "but I was in too much of a hurry to find Dick to tell you about it."

"Ann always thinks she must powder when she uses the flour," Dick said with a loving glance at his flushed wife, "but she looks all right to me even if she does have to dip her nose in the barrel every time she cooks."

Ann returned the look with a happy smile. What cared she for the unkind things Grace said?

Dick loved her and she had found a friend. Until their guests left, Norton fairly insisting Grace must go. Ann was gayer than she had been in weeks. After they left, before Dick returned to his work, she cuddled up to him and said:

"You were dear to say that about the flour, Dick."

"I only told the truth, Sweetheart. You do look all right to me, all ways."

BANK WRECKING RING LEADER BEING SOUGHT

ACTIVE CHIEF THOUGHT TO BE SECOND PONZI

With Bank President Held
Police Seeking Brains
of Gang.

ALLEGED WIDE PLOT

Systematic Plan of Bleed-
ing Financial Organiz-
tions is Charged

Chicago, Feb. 22.—With Frank L. Taylor, president of the First National Bank of Warren, Mass., under arrest here today charged with embezzling $209,000 of the bank's funds, the authorities asserted they are on the trail of one of the most stupendous bank wrecking rings ever operated in the United States.

An active search was started for Joseph B. Marcino, alias Blatka, alias Maffere whom the police declare to be a "financial wizard"—a "second Ponzi." Marcino, they assert, figured in half a dozen financial collapses in the last year.

Taylor, who was arrested in a flat here where he had been living quietly since his flight from Warren, Mass., said today that he was merely a "cat's paw" of Marcino's ring.

Marcino, according to Chief Examiner Hadley, of the New York State Insurance Commission and to records of the Burns Detective Agency, was responsible for irregular transactions in two banks in California. He went east from Chicago a year ago and obtained control of the Niagara Life Insurance Company of Buffalo, and the Mechanics' and Merchants' Bank of Philadelphia.

The insurance company was taken over by the insurance commissioner on February 14 because of "gross mismanagement." Last week the Philadelphia bank failed with a shortage of $130,000.

Marcino, using the name of Maffere, according to the Burns Agency, bought control of the bank of Perris, Cal., in 1917, and when the institution left his hands it had lost about $40,000. He is also alleged to have obtained stock in the Harbor City Savings Bank of San Pedro, Cal., from which he realized a profit of $8,500. He is said, also, to have had dealings with banks in Ottawa, Ill., and other middle west cities.

Taylor and Marcino's scheme was to obtain a certain amount of controlling stock in each contemplated venture and to use "dummy" stockholders in making a "clean up." He said Marcino was assisted by his father-in-law, Abraham Goldman, of Chicago. Goldman was to be questioned today.

OUTLOOK SERIOUS IN DUBLIN CITY

Dublin, Feb. 22.—The outbreak of the republicans in Dublin was the most serious since the battle in which the Free State forces stormed the irregular stronghold at Four Courts. The inferno resulted in the killing of two irregulars, the injury of two others and the capture of five. The most determined attack by the insurgents was made on the income tax office of the government, which was sprinkled with gasoline and set on fire while the staff was locked in the building. Six employees of the tax office were treated at the hospital for serious burns.

PARTICIPATION BY U. S. IN EUROPEAN POLITICS PREDICTED BY LAW

British Premier Declares in Washington Birthday Speech
That America Will Enter When Opportunity
Affords.

London, Feb. 22.—American participation in European politics was predicted today by Premier Andrew Bonar Law in a Washington's birthday speech before the English speaking union.

"I believe that when the opportunity offers, the American government no longer will stand aloof from the troubles of the old world," said the premier. "The effect of America's withdrawal from Europe after peace was declared cannot be calculated."

After outlining some of the troubles facing Europe, the premier continued: "If the United States could participate in peace as she did in war, it would be better for the world. But I believe the truth has begun to enter the minds of Americans. There must be co-operation and

Position of Ship Subsidy Bill Now Strengthened

Filibuster Against Measure Continued In Senate Thursday—Opposition Still Optimistic of Victory.

Washington, Feb. 22.—The ship subsidy bill, although officially displaced from its preferred position as "the unfinished business" of the Senate, was sailing through the same rough waters today as the coalition "battalion of death" continued a filibuster against its passage.

Supporters of the measure were in a slightly stronger position as a result of strategic maneuvers which enabled them to finally enact the army appropriation bill, the last of the great government supply measure which had been caught behind the legislative jam caused by the filibuster.

The parliamentary tactics, however, forced the administration leaders to face two test votes before the subsidy can again be brought under senatorial conditions. A motion by Senator Jones, Republican of Washington, to take up the subsidy again was pending when the senate convened but leaders of the filibuster announced they would immediately move to substitute the Ladd "filled milk" bill.

This brought the subsidy back to practically the same position it occupied yesterday but with the army supply bill out of the way, if the administration can defeat the Ladd motion, it can also return the subsidy to its preferred position. Administration leaders predicted a majority vote on both sides.

RED NEWSPAPER DECLARES PLANS ARE BEING LAID

Organization Formed Three
Years Ago Nucleus of Alleged Army

Berlin, Feb. 22.—The communist newspaper Rote Fahne (Red Flag), declared today that Germany has begun to make preparations for war.

According to the newspaper, Chancellor Wilhelm Cuno, minister of defense Gessler, and General Von Zekt, of the German military police, "participated in a meeting at which Germany's war capacity was discussed."

Rote Fahne asserted that General Von Zekt told his colleagues that it was possible to build up an army along the lines of the "Orgesch." He recommended that all possible munitions be placed at the disposal of the "Orgesch" as in the upper Silesian fighting between Germans and Poles.

(The Orgesch is a national organization formed in Germany three years ago for the "protection of national interests." France protested against the Orgesch on the ground it was a military organization, devoted to the training of future soldiers. This was vigorously denied by the Germans.)

According to Rote Fahne General Von Zekt demanded that civil officials "help in the war preparations."

CHARGE OF MURDER FOLLOWS SHOOTING

Cincinnati, Feb. 22.—Edgar Thomas, 45 years old, wealthy lumberman of Bainbridge, Ohio, who last Tuesday night fatally shot Walter H. Hopf, 23 years old, 720 West Ninth Street, County Dog Catcher, was charged yesterday with murder following the death of Hopf yesterday morning at the General Hospital.

Attorneys Franklin Krebbel and Edwin S. Morrissey obtained Thomas' temporary release on a $5,000 bond. Al Gold and Otto Dahms, Goodall building, Ninth Street and Central avenue, professional bondsmen, are sureties for Thomas.

It was said there appears to have been reasonable grounds for the shooting, so a bond was arranged. Thomas claims self-defense as his motive for the killing. Thomas said he was discussing hold-ups with other patrons in the cafe of John Ott, 424 West Fifth Street, former Municipal Court Bailiff, when Hopf, without warning thrust a revolver against his abdomen.

He fired, fearing an attack, said Thomas, Hopf, who also was known as "Joe Lang," was shot in his head and left side. Thomas is to be arraigned today.

NIGHT WILL HIDE FUTURE BATTLES

Cincinnati, Feb. 22.—"Decisive battles of future wars will be fought at night," Brig. General H. A. Drumm of New York, former chief of staff of the First Army, told members of the Officers Association here last night.

"In the world war the master strokes were obtained only through surprise," he said. "Airplanes prevent the enemy being taken unawares in the daytime, so successful drives will be launched under cover of darkness."

SENATE SIDETRACKS MINIMUM WAGE BILL ADOPTING BURCH ACT

Fact-Finding Proposal Is Passed by Vote of 18
to 16

Columbus, Feb. 22.—After prolonged debate the senate adopted the Burch resolution referring the minimum wage for women issue to a fact-finding commission, to report to the next legislature.

The resolution was put through, 18 to 16. Senate members of the proposed commission are Loughhead, Ferguson and Burch. The resolution now goes to the house.

An amendment proposing that the fact-finding commission report in three weeks and another calling for a report in January, 1924, were defeated.

Adoption of the Burch resolution has the effect of definitely sidetracking the Burke minimum wage bill. The vote on the Burch resolution was: For the resolution: Senators Atwood, Bolton, Burch, Carpenter, Chappellear, Clark, Hays, Jenkins, Kryder, LeFever, Liggett, Loughhead, Miller, McCoy, McGreevey, Pence, Price and Wenner. Against: Adair, Bender, Bragg, Burke, Collier, Edwards, Farnsworth, Ferguson, Garver, Gifford, Jones, Kummer, Marshall, Row, Waitt and Wise.

New bills pending today include: Ten senate measures providing for equal rights for women, as proposed by the national women's party; bills abolishing all parochial and private schools and compelling all children to attend the public schools; requiring applicants for marriage licenses to submit to tests to show whether they are free from social diseases; providing for recodification of the mining laws; transferring the State Department of Securities from the Department of Commerce to the Secretary of State; changing the penalty for displaying uncensored films by removing jail, or workhouse sentences; authorizing the state medical board to prosecute for fraudulent advertising of patent medicines and drugs as cures for human ailments.

Matthew D. Biddulph, alias John F. Derby, alias R. A. Marshall, was arrested in Albany, New York, and taken to New York City, where he confessed he was one of three men who seized Mrs. Irene Schoellkopf, wife of a multi-millionaire Buffalo man, in a New York apartment and robbed her of $500,000 worth of jewels while she was attending a New Year's Eve party in the studio of Frank Carman, her paid companion and dancing partner. Biddulph asserted he had in turn been robbed of all the gems by his two confederates, who have not been apprehended.

Rome, Feb. 22.—King Victor Emmanuel, of Italy, today signed the Washington conference treaty for limitation of naval armaments.

The powers that have ratified are the United States, Japan, Great Britain and Italy.

KLAN EMBERS ARE SEEN IN CAPITAL

Columbus, Feb. 22.—Dying embers of a Ku Klux Klan were found by firemen at the outskirts of Columbus last night.

The firemen had responded to a telephone call from a hysterical woman who declared that a telephone pole was burning "terribly."

Although the fire ladies saw no signs of hooded persons, Lynn Revenagh, secretary of the Ohio State Dry Goods Association, was informed over the phone that he should leave Columbus immediately. The fellow voicing the command said he was "the grand whifman of the Ku Klux Klan."

Revenagh promised to shoot any masked individual, or individuals who bothered him.

France is preparing to send a mission into Russia within a month to open negotiations on political and financial issues.

Paris, Feb. 22.—A statement printed by L'Echo Nation that the French cabinet, over riding all objections of President Millerand, has decided to open negotiations with soviet Russia, was formally denied by the foreign office this afternoon. A foreign office official said that France had no intention of entering political negotiations with Russia at present.

ENGLAND DENIES CONCESSIONS TO FRANCE IN RUHR

Report That Britain Has
Given Up More Territory
Branded as False

SITUATION TENSE

Germans Seeking to Keep
British Troops On the
Rhine

London, Feb. 22.—A report from Paris that Great Britain is making further concessions to France in the Cologne military zone was formally denied by the foreign office today. According to this report the British were giving up more territory and additional railways to the French.

British officials said that, on the contrary, the British were resisting the renewed requests of the French. They declared that the borders of the British area of military occupation on the Rhine are being adjusted in such a way that British is giving up less territory to France than was planned when the Letroquer-Bonar Law conference was held here last week.

"The situation is so delicate that the British are making preparations to withdraw from Cologne if any incidents take place," said a Cologne dispatch to the Daily Express, today. It was understood that the cabinet had agreed to military withdrawal without a formal ministerial vote if conditions warranted immediate action.

The Germans are using all their efforts to keep the British on the Rhine and are offering concessions of every kind.

Supporters of Premier A. Bonar Law have been notified to keep in closer touch with events, as the situation has become so tense that developments of grave importance may take place at any time.

The government was nearly caught napping last night in the House of Commons when the amendment to the old age pensions bill was called up.

The government supporters were mostly absent and Premier Bonar Law's forces won by only 22 votes.

Advices from Paris say that French government officials expect Germany to give up within a few weeks and accept France's terms for evacuation of the Ruhr, but the foreign office claims to have no official information on the subject.

UNITED STATES MAY RECOGNIZE MEXICO

Washington, Feb. 22.—Steps are being taken by the state department toward removal of barriers leading to recognition between the United States and Mexico. Officials declared that the move of President Obregon to have a commission of high class statesmen write a new interpretation of Article 27 of the Mexican constitution is the most practical suggestion yet made by a Mexican authority.

This commission, made up of five members, was appointed 10 days ago and already is at work in an effort to so define the article that it will be acceptable to the United States and at the same time guarantee for Mexico all of its rights. If these features are removed, it is believed recognition will not long be delayed.

STATE OFFICIALS ARE ENTERTAINED

Columbus, Feb. 22.—Governor Donahue, members of the State Legislature and other state officials were among the guests entertained with a special program at the Ohio State University.

Following a slight seeing tour of the university campus, the visitors witnessed a cadet review and artillery salute to the governor, followed by a social session in the oval. A noon luncheon at Ohio union was marked by an address by Dr. W. O. Thompson, president of the university.

This afternoon various university buildings were visited, messages broadcasted by radio and an informal reception held in Pomerene Hall. The guests will attend the Michigan-Ohio state basketball game at the coliseum tonight.

CITY COMMISSION WILL NOT MEET TILL FRIDAY NIGHT

Because Thursday, being Washington's Birthday, is a legal holiday, the meeting of the City Commission scheduled for Thursday night at which a successor to Mayor M. J. Hartley is to be elected, will not be held until Friday evening at the usual hour.

An ordinance passed in the early days of the commission-manager form of government in 1918, provides that when a meeting night falls on a legal holiday that the meeting should be postponed until the night following. As business transacted Thursday would have been illegal under this ordinance it was necessary to postpone the meeting.

Although a number of names have been mentioned as possible successors to the late mayor, Commissioners themselves kept their opinions to themselves and maintain that they do not know who the new commissioner will be. Among names whispered on the streets as those of possible successors to the vacancy on the commission body are those of H. L. Sayre, one time regular candidate for a commission seat, former Common Pleas Judge C. H. Kyle, Harry C. Sohn, and Frank McCurran. Others are also more or less prominently mentioned but the selection of a commissioner is still a matter of conjecture. It is understood.

The election of a commissioner to fill the vacancy requires the vote of three commissioners concurring. After the commission is again filled, a Mayor will have to be elected from its number to succeed Mayor Hartley, who held that position on the board. The new commissioner will be elected for a term of slightly less than three years.

BRYAN FAVORS NORRIS PROPOSAL

Washington, Feb. 21.—William J. Bryan made a special trip to the capitol to throw his influence behind the Norris resolution proposing an amendment to the federal constitution requiring that congress shall convene two months after election, instead of 13 months. Bryan expressed his views on the proposal to scores of Democratic representatives, who flocked out of the chamber to greet him. A number of Republicans likewise paid their respects.

"DON'T GET UP NIGHTS NOW"

Says Battle Creek Man, Had Bladder Trouble Three Years.

R. D. Nebbett, 19 Oak Street, Battle Creek, Mich., says: "Before taking Lithiated Buchu (Keller formula) I had to get up nights from three to five times. My back hurt me until I could hardly be still. My bladder bothered me most of the time. After three years, I am now completely cured. In two days I was feeling like a new man. Now I am doing real heavy work and feel that it is my duty to write you these words of thanks."

Lithiated Buchu (Keller formula) acts on the kidneys and bladder similarly as Epsom Salts on the bowels. It often removes abnormal deposits which cause irritation. Try a few doses for frequent desire at night, scalding, scanty or high colored urine. Lithiated Buchu Tablets (Keller formula) is not a cheap medicine. They cost 25 each and contain several drugs, which are useful to relieve "getting up nights."

Learn all about Lithiated Buchu (Keller formula) at Sayre and Hemphill's and drug stores everywhere, or write Keller Laboratory, Mechanicsburg, Ohio.

TURN HAIR DARK WITH SAGE TEA

If Mixed with Sulphur It Darkens So Naturally Nobody Can Tell

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible when you are lying in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixture at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is that besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive.

TRIANGLE GROUP EVANGELISTIC SERVICES TO PRESENT LEADER KNOWN TO XENIA

With the approach of the series of evangelistic meetings, to be conducted in the city by the Triangle Group of Churches, composed of the First Presbyterian Church, Trinity M. E. Church at the First Reformed Church, at the First Presbyterian Church, February 25, interest is being manifested in church circles in connection with the meetings. The success of the coming meetings was forecasted by the recent series of prayer meetings held throughout the three church congregations.

Rev. and Mrs. Ralph E. Stewart will return to Xenia in connection with the evangelistic campaign with the Rev. Joseph S. Flacks.

The Rev. Mr. Stewart came to Xenia, two years ago, unannounced and gathered together more than 500 boys and girls and taught them Bible stories by means of objects and sleight of hand. At that time he promised the children he would return again and until now he has been unable to give any definite date.

The Rev. Mr. Stewart has been successful as a Children's Evangelist and has been likened to the Pied Piper, because of the children who flock to hear him. He has several object lectures, some of which he will give while he is in Xenia. They are "The Empty Box Full," "The Big Heart and The Heart Talk," "The Mysterious House," etc. Children's meetings will be held in the afternoon beginning at 4 o'clock and continuing for one hour.

Music will play no small part in the forth-coming Evangelistic campaign conducted by the Rev. Joseph S. Flacks, noted Hebrew Christian, Bible teacher and evangelist and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Stewart, Children's Evangelist and Bible Teachers.

The music committee is composed of Dr. G. W. Kuhn, Mrs. H. C. Armstrong and Mrs. W. H. McGevey.

Already a large chorus choir has been organized and Mr. Stewart will meet with them Saturday at Reformed Church at 8 o'clock for a final rehearsal. All who desire to join are asked to be present that night. This chorus will sing through the entire campaign and many special musical selections will be featured. The Rev. Mr. Stewart is also a baritone soloist of ability having studied with William Clare Hall, tenor and vocal teacher, Chicago, Ill. He has given vocal concerts in Buffalo, LeRoy, Poughkeepsie and other cities.

There will also be organized a Booster Chorus composed of the boys and girls who will give a special program one of the evenings.

ADMIT MEMBERSHIP IN KU KLUX KLAN

George E. McCort, superintendent of the Springfield public schools, admitted that he was a citizen of the Invisible Empire, Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, in testimony in the court of Police Judge Golden C. Davis in Springfield Wednesday in the case of conspiracy charged against W. M. Cortner, alleged klan leader.

The state did not complete calling witnesses Wednesday, although a number of Klansmen were placed on the stand who admitted membership in the organization and officers who participated in the raid on klan headquarters when 681 names and 34 klan robes were obtained, were also called to testify by the state.

In the meantime representatives of the American Legion from Springfield, Piqua, Troy, Covington and Tippecanoe City met in Troy and framed a petition which will be circulated among Legionnaires protesting against the words of State Commander Gilbert Bettmann, who demanded that members of the Legion should give up membership in the klan.

GOLFER MAY SMOOTH HEEL MARKS IN BUNKER, PREFERABLY AFTER SHOOTING

London, Feb. 22.—Dub golfers who have the majority of their troubles in the hazards have been given consideration. The Royal and Ancient St. Andrews committee has ruled that heel marks in a bunker are not actual hazards.

The Wimbledon Club sent the following query to St. Andrews:

"A player played a stroke in a bunker, but did not get the ball out. Before playing his next stroke he smoothed over with his foot the heel marks made by his stance.

"This in no way improved the lie of his ball, which lay several feet in front of the position from which it had been played.

"His opponent said: 'I think I could claim the hole, but I will not do so in the peculiar circumstances.'

The St. Andrews decision was:

"Every golfer should smooth his heel marks in a bunker, but the proper time to do so is after the ball has been played from the bunker when no objection can be raised. In the circumstances the rules committee is of the opinion that the player did not incur any penalty."

CRIMINAL MADE, NOT BORN, AVER PSYCHOLOGISTS

Chicago, Feb. 22.—Criminals are made, not born, says the Chicago Crime Commission. It is home environment rather than mental abnormality that causes the youth of America to go wrong.

After more than a year of investigation, the report was made by the commission headed by Professor of Psychology Robert H. Gault, of Northwestern University. Associated with Professor Gault in his investigation, which covered the nation, were Dr. E. H. Ochsen, Dr. Ludwig Hektoen, Major M. L. C. Funkhouser and Graham B. Crosvener, all of Chicago.

"Feeble-mindedness among criminals," the survey showed, "is not greater than among the army draft and the general population."

"Recently a report upon the levels of intelligence of more than 1,000 juvenile delinquents in Boston showed that youngster of superior intellectual ability in the same group are of approximately the same number as those who are feeble-minded."

Reports on investigations at reformatories revealed the report said that among 7,500 boy inmates about 50 per cent were members of what was termed "crippled families"—families in which one or both parents were dead or otherwise separated permanently from their children.

As proof of its assertion that delinquency frequently has inception in such "crippled families," the commission points out that reliable figures show that about 25.3 per cent of the children of 16 years or under of the country are attached to such families.

"If the 'crippled' condition of the family were of no importance," the report argues, "only 25.3 per cent instead of more than 50 per cent of these boys should come from such homes."

City life is more conducive to juvenile delinquency than country life, the survey revealed.

Absence of certain factors, tending to create youthful criminals, found in every city of size, was the explanation given for the smaller number of young criminals found in rural communities.

Responsibility for counteracting these factors is placed squarely upon the parent by the commission.

"Those influences must be counteracted in the home," the report asserts. "The obligation to discover the formula in each individual case is squarely on the shoulders of the parents, and they cannot evade it."

The disregard with which many parents view the prohibition law was especially deplored by the makers of the report as a most important element in leading youths to view all law with like disregard.

BANK ROBBERY IS FINALLY CLEARED

Warren, Mass., Feb. 22.—The looting of the First National Bank here of $213,000 in negotiable securities was cleared up today by the locating of the bonds at Buffalo, N. Y., according to John A. Packard, New England manager of the William J. Burns detective agency, which brought about the arrest at Chicago of the bank's president, Frank L. Taylor.

The bonds located at Buffalo were disposed of there by Joseph B. Marcino, alleged "master mind." Marcino, according to Packard, has wrecked at least six banks in this country during the past year and is wanted in France, Italy and other European countries for similar operations. He was several times forced to flee his native land, Italy, according to Packard, who termed him "one of the most notorious bank wreckers in the world."

BIT OF WHITE LIMESTONE REVEALS APPEALING LOVE STORY IN DAYS OF ANCIENT PHAROAH OF EGYPT

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 22.—It is only a bit of white limestone—less than two and one-half inches long—bearing queer marks.

Yet it reveals one of the most appealing love stories of all history, and provides the background for the reign of King Tut-Ankh-Amen, Egyptian Pharaoh, whose tomb just now is giving up priceless historical treasures.

It is the marriage scarab of King Amen-hotep, III, father of Tut-Ankh-Amen, the only one in the United States and rests on a shelf at the museum of Anthropology of the University of California here.

Sister marriage was the unviolated practice of the Egyptian royal family until King Amen-hotep, III, married

Ti—Bedja woman and Syrian, a commoner. She was the beautiful daughter of a captain of his father's guard. He fell madly in love with her—such a great love it could only be satisfied by making her queen, his first wife. In defying the age-old tradition he almost brought his kingdom down on his ears, but he braved it all.

Tut-Ankh-Amen was not the son of Ti, according to Prof. H. F. Lutz, Egyptologist of the University of California, who deciphered the hieroglyphs on the tiny scarab and traced the love tale through the mazes of ancient Egyptian history.

Aman-hotep III had a large harem and Tut-Ankh-Amen was the son of one of these commoner wives.

Tut-Ankh-Amen rose to the kingship not by virtue of his father, but by marriage. He married the third daughter of Amen-hotep IV, his half brother, thereby making the half-brother his brother-in-law. Amen-hotep had married his sister at the age of 13. He was better known as Akhenaton, the heretic king.

There are two of the marriage scarabs in the collection. The larger and most perfect one bears in addition to the name of Queen Ti, those of her parents. King Amen-hotep known as the magnificent, did not try to hide his great love, the very language of the scarab shows, according to Prof. Lutz.

THE ART OF DOING WITHOUT.

There is an art that all men should covet. It is possessed by few. The average American is eating his heart out because he does not even know it exists. It is the art of doing without. Art did we say? Certainly. Rather it is good sense. It is wisdom. Nay, verily, it is an art. You can study it. You can practice it; for it is a matter of will rather than of the intellect. Do you have the power to deny yourself? Can you check yourself to say "No" to yourself? Ah, that is an art.

The average American thinks that money is to spend, not to save. He squanders even in the appeals of thrift, and walks along the border of poverty ready to fall over if he is out of work one week. The great majority live within two weeks of starvation and the poorhouse. Many live up their salary and wage before it is made. They laugh in the face of the grim warning of debt. Frugality has never even crossed their path. Thrift, its twin, has never even thrown its shadow over their last intention. Money is to spend. Things are made to have and enjoy.

Hear this warning: If you are to have riches or wealth or possessions, you must be willing to pay the price of denying yourself by beginning early in life. You must learn the art of doing without. If you are not willing, then do not envy those who have, because they were willing to pay the price of self-denial and to practice the art of doing without that they might have possession.

ALL PROFIT FROM ADVERTISING.

The net profits of the William Wrigley, Jr., Company for 1922 were $6,146,635. This profit was piled up from the sale of five cent packages of chewing gum. The sale of hundreds of millions of packages were necessary to pile up this profit.

And these sales were made possible by the expenditure of millions of dollars for advertising. There are other chewing gums possibly as good as Wrigley's, but the public knows Wrigley's is good because it is advertised. If it were not good Wrigley could not afford to advertise it.

The Wrigley company has proven beyond question that advertising is the cheapest sale force that can possibly be employed. The same sales force will sell any other good product.

AN AUTO GENERATION.

According to Collier's Weekly, of the 20,000,000 automobiles owned in this country, only about one-eighth of the owners can afford to ride in automobiles. These figures are based on statistics and tax records which show the percentage of people who have an income sufficient to warrant them in owning an automobile.

Of course these figures are not wholly dependable. But it is no difficult task to make a reliable estimate in one's own community. It is startling to note the number of people who own cars that can not afford them. Much of the trouble in a business way in this country is due to the fact that too much money is burned up in joy-riding. Many a man has indulged in dishonest practices and gone bad simply because he has tried to keep up with the automobile procession on a wheel-barrow income. It can't be done. It leads to trouble.

But it is a psychological condition. Society as a whole is as much or more to blame than an individual. We have come to estimate men and women too largely by the car they ride in. And the man who does not own a car seems to feel that he is alone in the world, and is, in a measure. People wonder what is wrong with the man who walks to and from his business these days. Why? Because we are afflicted with auto-ataxia.

The automobile has such a wide place in both business and pleasure that nothing will displace it. But it is a question if some economic system will not have to be worked out that will make it less of a drain on lean pocketbooks, and less of a social thermometer. In business it has come to be a necessity. As a pleasure vehicle nothing has ever equaled it. But nothing that has preceded it has so affected the judgment of people and caused them to overreach themselves.

WHY NOT DISCUSS IT?

With neck arched and back bowed, the Senate settles down, to a two weeks' endurance grind over the ship subsidy. Most of its other actual work is done. The Army Bill needs a few touches and the hoppers are full, as always, of farm legislation, but the subsidy is the remaining real business of the Senate.

Supposedly, it will be under consideration most of the time till March 4. Actually, its opponents will talk about everything else on earth and the waters beneath the earth.

Since it happens that this Ship Subsidy Act has never been really considered, thought out, talked out, fought out and discussed in the Senate, why shouldn't that body talk about it while killing the weary hours left to the Sixty-seventh Congress? It is an important measure and the problem it seeks to solve is national.

In the heat engendered by actual debate there might be light. Maybe the Senate might find a way of its own to end the present burden of $50,000,000 a year on the taxpayer. If there is a solution, the Nation would welcome it. If the Administration way was proved mistaken, then the country would know it, and that plan could die and pass unwept and unsung.

If the mills of Senate talk must grind, let them work on the grist they are supposed to be grinding instead of taking up the carfare of the District of Columbia, the alleged sins of the Anti-Saloon League and the shortcomings of the United States Supreme Court. If the Senate is, as it says, the greatest deliberative body in the world, it might at least deliberate and discuss the ship subsidy before smothering it to death in the kicked-up dust of a "farm-bloc" filibuster.—Public Ledger.

Conductor James Ryan, of the Rapid Transit line, had a thrilling experience last night at a late hour. He was engaged in taking a Rapid Transit car, which arrives in this city at midnight to the car barn at Shipway's and when just beyond Alpha, and while running at a high rate of speed the car was derailed. At the point where the accident occurred there is an embankment of six or eight feet and the car came within an ace of going over it.

BEAUTY CHATS

YOUNG MOTHERS HINTS

I have tried in various talks to give a few useful beauty hints to prospective young mothers, and I have tried particularly to make them believe the theory that I have seen proved over and over again, that, far from spoiling one's beauty, having a child will often increase it.

Certain rules must be followed. The young mother must have sufficient rest or she will be dragged out and tired, and both figure and health will suffer.

She must wear the proper sort of support, maternity belt, maternity corset or abdominal belt, or the muscles will be dragged and strained and the young girl's charm of figure will depart. She must take care of her diet or her health and the baby's, will suffer.

She must use cleansing cream frequently and perhaps a nourishing cream as well, for the skin of the face and neck often becomes curiously dry.

She must use a tonic on her hair or this will suffer greatly. She should really see a dentist every two months (or three, if her teeth are particularly sound) for much that goes normally to the hair and the teeth is diverted now into other channels. She must massage parts of her body with oil so the skin will stretch easily and more easily go back just as it was before.

Above all, she should keep in as tranquil and happy a frame of mind as possible for this has nervous and physical reactions which effect her and some people say the coming child. She should not listen to the rather horrible "old wives' tales" which will only upset her.

More progress, they say, has been made in the art of bringing children into the world in the last two years than in any other profession.

Blondy—Vaseline or any oil will make your light hair appear to be darker while you are using it but this will not interfere with the shade permanently.

Why not use a tonic that is better suited to your hair, one in which there are a number of ingredients. In such mixtures there will be oil and other things to cut it so the shade of the hair is not affected. If you need a formula for such a tonic, send me a self addressed envelope and I shall be glad to mail it to you.

Take many deep breaths while you walk as this is as effective in consuming the fatty tissue as the exercises. Substitute whole wheat bread for that made from white flour and balance your diet by eating fruit, green vegetables and salads to offset the starchy foods.

Today's Talk

IT'S WHAT YOU FEEL

It isn't the thing that you do that counts most, but what you feel as you do it.

Your sincerity of heart will tell all about you.

In the office where you work, you will stand apart as a worker. If you write, people will feel as you have felt.

If you speak, your words will lodge and stay to uplift and inspire. If you paint, the very picture itself will live and breathe anew in the eyes of every one that looks upon it.

It's what you feel in expression that is imperishable.

I looked upon a beautiful Rembrandt today so warm were its colors so rich its form, that Rembrandt stood alive before me.

There is one thing that cannot be disguised, and that is your feeling. It is the real thing about anyone.

The books, the paintings, the buildings—no matter what—that were wrought in sincerity of spirit are those which live and which in their turn, have inspired all mankind.

Your friend that you love, regardless of any fault, is of great worth to you because you know that honest feeling controls his life. You know that he is dependable.

It is impossible to do anything of a lasting nature that is not sincere with feeling behind it.

Remember, it is what you feel that is going to make you great—or happy.

PE-RU-NA

Made Her a Well Woman

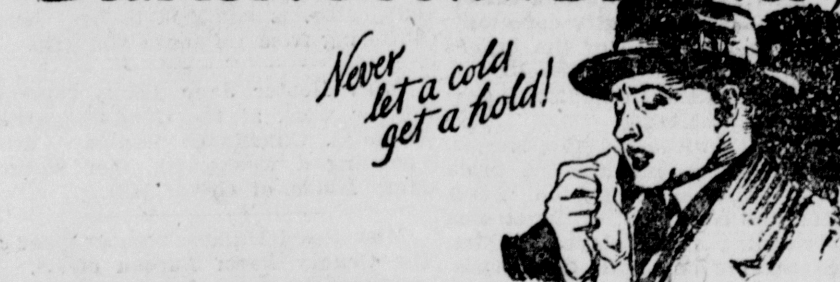

No sufferer from catarrh of the stomach can read of this lady's experience as she tells it, without being thankful for the existence of a remedy like Pe-ru-na. Having known nothing but misery for years, Mrs. Van Buren's feeling of gratitude is not surprising.

These are her words: "I have spent a great deal of money doctoring for catarrh of the stomach and at times have been compelled to give up my household work for days. For years I did not know a well day and cannot help but feel I would not be alive today had I not been induced to try Pe-ru-na. Six bottles of Pe-ru-na made me a well woman."

Pe-ru-na stimulates the digestion, aids elimination, increases the supply of pure blood and drives out the poisonous catarrhal secretions. Try Pe-ru-na first. It will save time, money and suffering.

BRYAN DECLARES NO WET WILL BE NAMED BY THE DEMOCRATS

Washington, Feb. 21.—William Jennings Bryan, in discussing the approaching presidential campaign, declared that "it is safe to say no 'wet' or Wall street man will be nominated by the Democratic party."

"The one outstanding fact in the last election was the growth of progressive sentiment in both parties," Bryan said. "There has been nothing since the election to indicate there has been any reaction."

Mr. Bryan was reminded of the recent statement of Representative Burke Cockran of New York in the house that the Democratic party need not nominate a presidential candidate in 1924 unless it writes a "wet" plank into the national platform. Bryan replied:

"Does Mr. Cockran expect a change in the constitution that would confine the vote to the underworld? It depends altogether upon the vote to which the Democratic party is going to appeal. A large majority of the American people are for prohibition and against any weakening of the law. The Democratic party has no chance of success unless it takes the side of the people and favors enforcement of the law."

MILLIONAIRE DIED BROKE IS BELIEF

Los Angeles, Feb. 2.—Filing for probate of the will of Earle Remington, who was murdered last Thursday night at the door of his home, revealed the fact that the young manufacturer, the mysteries of whose death has not yet been solved, died broke. By the will, which was made six months ago, Remington left to his wife all of his property except an insurance policy for $25,000, which is payable to his sister, who had loaned him that amount of money. His brother-in-law, one of the executors of the will, said that the estate is heavily encumbered and that the widow will receive little in addition to an insurance policy for $17,000. The police are trying to discover in what fashion Remington spent many thousands of dollars during the last six months.

Washington, Feb. 2.—Czecho-Slovakia intends sending a debt funding commission to the United States to negotiate with the American world war foreign debt commission for a settlement of the $110,000,000 obligation owed the American government, according to an official dispatch from Prague received by the state department.

While the amount owed by Czecho-Slovakia is small when compared with the debts of France, Italy and Belgium, administration officials are obviously pleased at the first "break" in the continental bloc of international debtors.

KING TUT NO NEARER THE APE THAN GENERAL GRANT SAYS BRYAN; BELIEF IS STRENGTHENED

Washington, Feb. 22.—King Tut doesn't seem to have been any nearer the ape than General Grant!

That from William Jennings Bryan who tells the intellectual world it is dead wrong in the theory man sprung from the worm and monkey.

Bryan was jubilant today over the discoveries of the body of Tut-Ankh-Amen down in the depths of his Egyptian tomb. It fixes as a certainty that man was through "revolving" from the monkey stage nearly 5,000 years ago, Bryan said.

That proven, Colonel Bryan feels he has a powerful additional argument to support his anti-Darwinian theory.

"It is difficult to draw conclusions until you get all the facts," Col. Bryan commented on the work of the archaeologists.

"So far, however, the discoveries seem to indicate a highly advanced state of civilization, even at that remote period. There was evidently a belief in immortality—a belief in God."

"Now King Tut-Ankh-Amen appears to have been a man and no nearer the monkey stage than General Grant. Here the 'Great Commoner' exhibited the keenest mirth. He took this rather malicious shot at the evolutionists:

"If man came from the ape he must have quit coming before the Egyptian king took the throne. Man seems to have arrived on our earth a good while ago judging from the fact his civilization of three thousand years before Christ was in quite a high state of progress."

Colonel Bryan declared that the value of the Egyptian excavations can not be estimated until they are completed. Then he thinks years of study will be required to extract from the relics of yesterday's civilization their true meaning.

The Democratic leader expressed great interest in the revision of modern ideas of Egyptian civilization as a result of the treasures brought to light from the tombs of the pharaohs. But what the work may mean to modern times he did not attempt to predict.

MASONIC CLUB ENTERTAINMENT WILL BE POPULAR

Indications are that Masons, their relatives and friends, from Xenia and all over Greene County will attend the Masonic Club party at City Hall Theater Thursday night when the club presents "The Community Players" of Dayton, in the farce, "The Man from Mexico" as the annual Masonic Club Washington's Birthday party and this year's plan of giving a play instead of the usual dinner and speechmaking is a distinct departure from the program of other years.

The Community Players have been winning attention in Dayton and in other places where they have appeared. Consecutively since the first of the year the company has been presenting the highly amusing farce, "The Man from Mexico" and Dayton critics have always spoken well of the production.

None of the performers are amateurs, all of them having had considerable stage experience. Frederick Howell the leading man, was with Blanche Ring a year and also appeared with Eddie Foy. Miss Pauline Currier plays opposite him, and all of the performers have been trained well by Miss Grace Stivers, head of the elocution department of the Steele High School Dayton.

The play will be presented for members of the Masonic Club free, while other Masons and their friends will pay admission.

Styles BY LENORE

Gowns worn recently at New York dances indicate the fitted bodice with full skirt as the style most favored by the debutantes. A particularly captivating model, which is shown in the illustration, stands out for the individuality of the neck and the cleverly contrived tunic, which is acomplished by turning back the ends of the skirt material over a separate foundation. The space in front is filled in with flat roses, in a wicked shade of pink. A loop at the neck holds the gold cloth ribbon which is carried over the shoulders and to the base of the armholes.

This frock is made of taffeta in the new shade of orchid, sometimes shot with rose, called by the poetical name of "Mountain Haze." You will probably see this shade a lot soon, everywhere.

ATHLETIC CLUB PROPOSED FOR XENIA

MERCHANTS BEAT JAMES TOWN HIGH; FRESHMEN WIN

PLAN WOULD NEED 500 MEMBERS TO CARRY

Proposes Athletic Club

The proposal for a Xenia Athletic Club, to provide opportunity for systematic work for tired business men and others and offering other club facilities, is being advanced by Tom Pappas, of this city, who has been actively interested in similar organizations in Springfield.

Pappas hopes to obtain an expression from Xenia people on the proposal by putting out membership tickets in an attempt to interest 500 members in the Club. If the required quota is obtained he plans a meeting and election of officers and instruction of the officers to go ahead with the plan. If the quota is not obtained, it would be impossible to carry the project, Pappas believed.

The proposal is for the athletic club to organize with 500 members at a month's dues of $5 a year, or $1 a month if paid that way. By obtaining gym quarters, instructors could be brought here from the Springfield Y. M. C. A. to instruct different classes nightly, he says. Thus on succeeding nights the classes could take up boxing, wrestling, gym work and calisthenics, basketball and handball, while one night could be reserved for women members to offer them the same opportunity. The gym would have to be equipped with weights, horses, dumbbells and other gymnasium equipment, and shower baths would also have to be provided.

If the club is put in operation, boxing shows could be staged there periodically which would enable it to pay for itself, as is done in other cities, according to Pappas. In the belief that there will be a sufficient number of people interested in the project to carry it out, he will have membership tickets printed and placed in drug stores, barbershops and pool rooms. Unless a sufficient membership is obtained the plan will not be attempted and no money will be accepted, he says.

Merchants Defeat Jamestown

Jamestown High School basketball team, which has been going great all season, was forced to bow before the South Side Merchants of this city at Jamestown, Wednesday night, the score being 20 to 7. In a previous encounter between these teams, the Jamestown gang had come out victorious by a narrow margin.

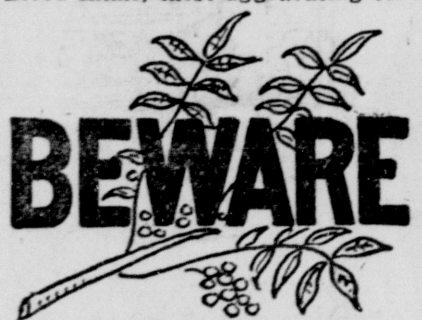

The Merchants, leaders of the Municipal League in this city, show the best form on pass work and team work they have displayed this season in walloping the Jamestown aggregation. The maneuvers kept the high five guessing all the way.

HELICOPTER STAYS IN AIR 2 MINUTES

Dayton, Feb. 21.—Reaching an altitude of 15 feet, the de Bothezat helicopter remained in the air for two minutes and 45 seconds during a flight at McCook field this morning. This was more than twice as long as the first flight, December 18, 1922, when it remained in the air for one minute and 38 seconds and arose about three feet.

Major Thurman H. Bane, former commandant at McCook field, piloted the helicopter on the flight. Dr. George de Bothezat inventor and builder of the machine, declared it did not fall below 10 feet at any time during the flight. Tests will be held each day suitable for flying, according to de Bothezat.

FOLLIES PLAYS TO BIG AUDIENCE ON THE SECOND NIGHT

Not an available seat was left in City Hall Theater Wednesday night, when the Phi Delta Follies of 1923, were presented for the second and last time, and the appreciative audience voiced the comment that the 1923 edition was the best of the annual Follies.

As usual with amateur performances, Wednesday night's offering was delivered with more success than the opening night, the action moving along swifter, and the production coming to an end much earlier than on the opening night.

Misses Elizabeth Mullen and Mildred Mason in their delightful tomfoolery and their rendition of "Mrs. Gallagher and Mrs. Shean" were again chronic laugh-producers. While the Sutton music store set in the second half was again a big hit of the performance ranking with the "Nightmare Blues," offered by Curtis Thompson and chorus and "They Call It Dancing," with Bob Owens and chorus. The blackface persiflage of Bill Sornor was again well received.

Many pretty songs were used in the Follies, both in the first and second parts. Miss Gladys Shadrach sang very prettily, "Lady of the Evening," one of the prettiest songs of the show. She was supplemented by a clever chorus, "I Have the Blues Because the Men All Stay Away," written by Miss Helen Hurley and Bob Hurley, both words and music, was well rendered by Miss Louise Keyes, and was a pleasing bit of the first part, "Name It Yourself," was talked off by Pillsbury and Sutton and offered a clever and a clever bit of nonsense that was well received. Miss Doris Whittington had the right stage personality to put her song, "Who Cares?" across the footlights well, and she was assisted by the girls in the first part.

The Sutton music store scene opened the second act, and those taking part were John Sutton, William Horner, in blackface, Misses Cleo Hurley, and Helen Hurley and Don Currie, Forest and Bob Hurley. Many pleasing musical numbers were offered in this setting, "Mammy Weep No More," was a take off on the phonograph record, "Carolina in the Morning," one of the prettiest song numbers, featured Miss Helen Hurley and the Hurley Quartet, "Song of India," "Three O'clock in the Morning," and other numbers were well rendered by the orchestra, with Misses Helen and Cleo Hurley at the pianos, Bob Hurley playing banjo, Forest Hurley, the cornet, Don Currie, the saxophone, Bill Horner the drums and John Sutton the marimbaphone. Other pleasing vocal numbers included, "Lovin' Sam," by Miss Cleo Hurley; "Agra-vatin' Papa," by Miss Helen Hurley and chorus and "When McKay's Play That Song of Dear Old Dixieland," an original composition by Bob Hurley and John Sutton, rendered by Bob Hurley and chorus.

Members of Ohio Beta Beta Chapter, Phi Delta Kappa Fraternity, under whose auspices the Follies were presented, believed they will realize generously on the two nights' performances, which were staged and directed by Bob Hurley, assisted by John Sutton.

"But Tanlac has switched me back on the track to good health and I feel so grateful towards the medicine it's about all I want to talk about these days. Why, I have gained ten pounds in weight and can throw switches with any of the boys now. I can't say enough for Tanlac and my wife is also very enthusiastic over what it has done for me."

SENATE READY TO PROBE VET BODY CHARGES

Await Arrival of Forbes Before Beginning Investigation

Washington, Feb. 22.—The arrival of Colonel Charles R. Forbes, resigned, director of the United States veterans' bureau, who is expected to reach New York from Paris Friday, is all that is delaying the special senate committee which is investigating charges of waste and mismanagement.

Evidence, which, it is said, will point to a verification of the epitomized estimate made by a high American Legion official, who characterized the bureau as "the great American pork barrel," already has been placed before the committee, it was learned here.

Summed up, the officials and ex-service leaders quizzed charge: Existence of an organized conspiracy to defraud the government in the sale of surplus army supplies allocated to the bureau, which may bring indictment of several former officers of the veterans' bureau; payment of excessive rentals for schools and hospitals and offices used by the bureau in carrying out its work; "grabs" by construction and material firms in connection with the building of hospitals; favoritism shown certain real estate owners in the amounts paid for building sites, and general destruction of the personal morale of the bureau following the expose of the above conditions.

Based on the evidence submitted and other material investigated by the department of justice, the veterans' bureau is alleged to have taken the lead as the haven for "friends" of deserving political henchmen.

The veterans' bureau was organized 22 months ago to serve disabled and maimed veterans of the world war. It has been liberally provided with funds by congress, that body having recently appropriated approximately $500,000,000 for its maintenance for the next fiscal year. Investigators, members of congress and various ex-service representatives charge that nearly one-fourth of this amount has been either wasted or misappropriated. The hospitals, schools and offices involved in the charges are located in all sections of the country.

Senators on the investigating committee, as well as those close to President Harding, are firm in their belief that Colonel Forbes will be in no way involved when the expose is made.

But miraculous as it may seem, the bureau has been fairly well managed in spite of the political pie-cutting. Officials here point to the excellent job done by Acting Director George E. Hams, who has been at the helm during the absence of Director Forbes. Revelations of the past three weeks have affected the bureau more than anything else, say observers who have closely watched the organization function.

TERMS:

On what? Why the cost of advertising your Public Sale in these columns, very similar to this ad, the cost is little compared to WHAT YOU GET. You get a REAL crowd, live buyers, from all parts of the county, men that have read about your sale in these columns, and have considered your goods, and come to your sale knowing what you have, in DETAIL. They have read their paper, usually at night, when they HAVE time, and consequently YOUR ADVERTISEMENT'S NEWS, and they read it, clear through, just the same as regular news of the happenings of the day. Stop and think, now arent YOU reading THIS? What made you do it? Why answer THAT in your own mind—the big words, "PUBLIC SALE" at the top, and the pictures of the horse and the steer in this ad. They instantly caught your eye and out of curiosity naturally you are reading all this. Now isn't that exactly what you would like to happen when YOUR ad appears in this paper? Three thousand farm-house homes pay for this paper, in advance, that they may have the news of the day, so why wouldn't your ad inserted three times previous to your sale be seen, and read. That's why the crowd turns out to the successful sales, they see it in this paper. You choose the best auctioneer, in your judgment, why not have the largest crowd there that is possible, for him to sell to? You owe it to yourself. The bigger the crowd the bigger the sale.

GRAPE BUSINESS TO BE REVIEWED IN FRESNO FETE

Fresno, Feb. 22.—"From the Garden of Eden to the Garden of the Sun" will be the theme of the annual Raisin Day celebration in Fresno on April 26, when the fiftieth anniversary of the planting of the first grape vine in the famed San Joaquin Valley is celebrated in Fresno, with every community in the valley participating.

The theme will be developed with eight allegorical floats depicting in chronological order the development of the grape as food and drink for mankind, from the dawn of the first day in the Garden to the present era, when many claim the grape is really coming into its own as a fruit with a wonder future.

Attracts thousands

Pesno's Raisin Day celebration has great significance for the people of California. It brings thousands of visitors to the metropolis of the valley each year, but to the residents of the section that justly deserves the title "Garden of the Sun" it is a celebration of the realization of many years of hope, of the winning of a competency from what once was a barren waste, because the grape has brought to the San Joaquin its hope for the future and has made it one of the greatest valleys in the world.

The queen who will rule over the one-day carnival will be picked from the district which during the year before has the heaviest tonnage of raisins; the choice of the queen from the contestants in this particular community is then decided by the residents of the community and it is considered an honor to be chosen as the presiding head of this great one-day festival.

About two months before the festival a great committee representing each county in the valley is picked by civic bodies in each city and this committee governs the activities of the day.

The theme for this year was suggested by George Alooian, head of the Armenian Students' Association of Fresno and provides that the great pageant, which is the chief event of every Raisin Day celebration, will present in simple allegory the real story of the grape.

Every city in the valley will have allegorical floats in the parade, and doubtless the fact that T. F. Eisen planting the first grapevine in the valley in 1873 will add a golden jubilee touch to the efforts of all the communities.

MCKINNEY WILL NOT SEEK PARDON--SAY VANDERVOORT PLANNED TO MAKE ESCAPE

Reports that efforts would be made by the wife of Roy "Mack" McKinney, who is serving sentence for the murder of Emory McCright, Wilmington policeman a year ago, to obtain a pardon from the Governor, was denied at Wilmington Thursday.

McKinney, who was vindicated of the crime by the confession of Louis Vandervoort, 21, of near Jamestown, and his subsequent sentencing to the penitentiary for life, will not seek a pardon which is also not the proper legal procedure, but hopes to have the conviction in Wilmington wiped off the records by a new trial and complete vindication.

The procedure as outlined by Wilmington authorities includes an appeal of the case to the Court of Appeals now sitting in Cincinnati, asking for a new trial on the grounds of additional evidence and have the case remanded to Clinton County Common Pleas Court for a new trial. Judge F. M. Cleveland will then act on a nolle prosequi presented by Prosecuting Attorney E. J. West, and will annul the sentence.

It is expected to bring McKinney to Wilmington Friday for this formal trial but whether he will then be freed by Wilmington authorities or not, is still a question. McKinney has a $2,000 fine for bootlegging hanging over him, which Clinton County authorities may want to have satisfied before he is turned loose, and he may be re-committed to the Work House to serve this fine. His father-in-law, Jim Bill Reno, who was also indicted for the murder of McCright, is still in jail in Wilmington. McKinney has served five months in the state penitentiary.

Vandervoort was taken to Columbus to begin his life sentence Wednesday afternoon, in custody of Sheriff Will Kirk and Deputy Smith. On his arrival at the pen, or the first time in the history of the institution, two men were confined for the same crime one not guilty and the other the con-

CONTINUE PROJECT OF FEEDING SCHOOL CHILDREN OF CITY

The project of the Federated Parent Teacher Association of the city, in feeding every under-nourished child of the first three grades of the city schools, a luncheon of milk and wafers will be continued during February, March and April. It was decided at the meeting of members of the McKinley organization held at the school Wednesday afternoon.

The feeding will be continued during May for all children who are still under-nourished. The organization now has enough money in the treasury to finance the feeding during March, and in order to secure additional funds, the organization is going to present Harry Edwards, former Xenian, son of Chas. Edwards of the Jasper pike, who has had considerable experience on the stage, as a magician, at the McKinley auditorium, for two performances, March 1. The afternoon performance will be given at 3:45 o'clock, the evening program to begin at 8 o'clock. The admission will be 25 cents.

Washington, Feb. 22.—The farewell address of the man who was "first in peace," today brought a brief respite of peace to the battle-torn senate.

While open hostilities in the ship subsidy fight were suspended, Senator Carter Glass, Democrat of Virginia, read Washington's last message to his people. Glass followed the Senate's custom of honoring the first president and the reading of the message took one hour.

Glass was selected to read the message under another old custom of the Senate, which gives each side the right to choose the speaker in alternate years. Senator Philo Dexter, Republican of Washington, repeated the address last year.

MOSCOW HAS WORLD'S ONLY TOY MUSEUM

Moscow, Feb. 22.—The artist, Nikolai Bartram, a painter and for thirty years a teacher of Kustarney art, is responsible for the Toy Museum of Moscow, the only toy museum in the world. Bartram had been the curator of the collections of Kustarney art in Moscow, and two years ago, at his suggestion a toy museum, drawing chiefly on peasant art, was established at Smolensk Boulevard, and now Bartram, who, along with an aristocratic bearing, has a "way with the children," is in charge of this museum and is called by the children by the affectionate name of "Uncle Museum."

HAS FINE COLLECTION

The museum has a fine collection of the dolls and wooden sculptured animals made by the peasants. It has also small stage with all the trappings of a theatre. Puppet plays are given and there is a large collection of the marionettes. There are also masks, some of them very old and valuable, as part of the stage properties. There are dolls of all nations, heathen and Christian.

America is represented by two very clever negro dolls and a woman suffragist.

There is a talking book from Germany, which at every page can be made to give a different cry, according to the animals represented in the picture; there are music boxes from everywhere; there are military displays; and recent additions are distressed bourgeois dolls and triumphant proletariat made by the peasants.

MANY CHILDREN VISIT

Last year 35,000 children visited this museum, including 300 children's excursions with guides and systematic instruction. But the museum is popular in the deepest sense of the word. Every day long before the opening of the museum children gather at the door to be ready at the first moment. Some children visit every day. Favorite toys are the animals, especially a wooden cow bigger than a cat which all the little girls take turns at milking. The theatre is very popular, where the children often converse with the puppets on the stage. There are play-houses, some of them very ancient in design and Bartram is adding to the walls lovely portraits of children in oil—classic and modern, and international. The artistic work of the children is also a feature.

EAGLES TO PRESENT INDOOR CIRCUS AND BAZAAR IN MARCH

A huge indoor circus and bazaar will be staged at the Rink the week of March 5 to March 10, inclusive, under the auspices of Xenia Aerie, No. 1689, Fraternal Order of Eagles, according to plans just completed by the lodge members.

The affair will be the first entertainment of that kind ever held in Xenia, members say, and the Aerie is getting strongly behind the movement to make the week's program a success. The entertainment program will include some of the best circus and vaudeville acts obtainable calculated to furnish a variety of entertainment for both young and old.

The program is being prepared under the personal supervision of Mr. Mosher of the Gus Sun Amusement Company, and will include such artists as the Voltaires, Paul and Louise Elis, Bert Geyer and flying ring, trap, eze, equestrian, balancing, slackwire and juggling acts. The Rink will be transformed in a bower of springtime if plans of the decorations committee are carried out. The booth arrangement will present the appearance of a huge summer garden, with trellis work interwoven with flowers and a lavish use of colors, including the national colors and the emblems of the Eagles.

All concessions will be under the supervision and operated by members of the local Aerie and will offer a variety of merchandise. The luncheon and refreshment concession, however, has been granted jointly to the Greene County Chapter, American Red Cross and the Social Service League; the receipts to go to the relief and welfare fund of these organizations.

A number of contests will feature the week, the most prominent of which will be the "Queen" or "Popularity Contest," which is open to any young woman in the community and offers to those obtaining the largest number of votes, not only the title of the carnival but also handsome prizes including a diamond ring, wrist watch, mesh bag, Dorrine case and numerous other prizes. Entrants in this contest must be enrolled prior to the opening or before 7:30 o'clock, Monday-evening, March 5, and each entrant will be given a start of 1,000 votes. For every penny received as a donation for the Aerie a vote will be given, and entrants may ask anyone to subscribe to the benefit. Entrants must be on duty each night and must give a report nightly, the results to be kept on a bulletin board at the Rink. Votes may also be sent in if marked to whose credit they are meant and addressed to the Popularity Committee.

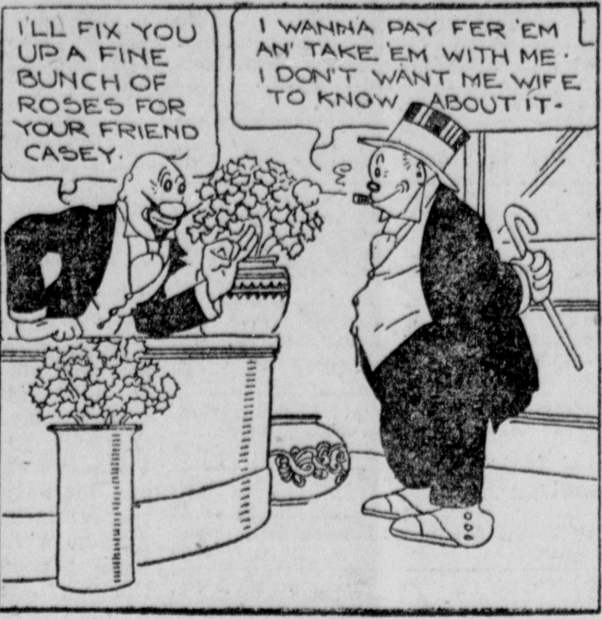

Inquiries regarding the contest may be addressed to this committee or information will be furnished by telephoning the Eagles' Hall.

A committee consisting of Ohmer Mason, Elmer Shoemaker, Joe Fealy and Sidney Gable is in charge of general arrangements for the affair. An admission of ten cents will be charged.

EQUAL RIGHTS FOR WOMEN

Columbus, Feb. 22.—Ten bills were introduced in the senate incorporating equal rights for women as proposed by the National Women's party. Under the bills the exclusive right of the husband to select the abode for both himself and his wife would be withdrawn; protection of minority would be extended to females as well as males, by making 21 years the legal age for marriage without consent of the parents, and real estate toward payment for which both husband and wife have contributed would be equitably divided between them.

Newcastle, Ind., Feb. 22.—Dr. W. A. Winters, father of Catherine Winters, missing since 1913, has received a letter from N. Gorsuch, former Superintendent of the Vinton County (Ohio) Children's Home, in which he said Mrs. Clyde Taylor, of Middleport, who recently said she believed she was Catherine Winters, was Catherine Ross, prior to adoption by a family named Hoyd and marriage to Taylor, and that she had been reared at the Children's Home. He said she never had been kidnapped and that adoption took place while he was superintendent of the Home.

CHAPTER XV.

"Ann, let me present Hugh Norton, a friend of Ned's."

Until Grace spoke Ann wondered who the good-looking young man could be.

She had not heard them arrive and Grace had called out to her from the open door, the young man now raised his hat and stepped forward, a few steps behind her.

Ann flushed with embarrassment. She had been making cake, and her bungalow apron covered her dainty morning dress; there was flour on her hands, and she wondered if there wasn't some on her face.

But she greeted the young man pleasantly, apologizing for her appearance.

"Oh, Ann's a regular little house cat!" Grace explained. "She's like domestic kind, likes to wash dishes and cook! Ugh!" then to Ann: "Where's Dick? I'll leave Mr. Norton to entertain you while I go and find him."

"He's working in the lemon orchard this morning."

Tell him to come in soon. You will stay for luncheon, of course?" This last to Hugh Norton who was looking at her with admiring eyes.

"It would be delightful if we won't put you out?" he replied, while Grace called over her shoulder:

"Of course we'll stay! Dick never would get over it if I didn't!"

Again Ann flushed, this time with annoyance. Why would Grace say such things? And before a stranger.

"Is there anything I can do to help, Mrs. Belden?" Norton asked. "It's rather an imposition for us to come in upon you like this."

"Not at all," Ann replied, forgetting her embarrassment because of his easy manner. "We are always glad to company."

He told her a bit of himself, that he was with an uncle on a ranch the other side of the Prentice's. That he had been away for several months, which accounted for his not meeting them.

Then he insisted he must help her, so she gave him the peas to shell, while she bustled herself with other things.

When Dick and Grace came in Norton was helping Ann set the table.

"Just look at that picture of perfect domesticity, Dicky!" Grace exclaimed. "I bring Hugh Norton over to meet you and he straightaway becomes Ann's slave."

"This is Dick, Hugh. You've heard enough about him to dispense with formality."

"I hope you haven't heard anything very bad," Dick said as they shook hands.

"Gad, no! Nothing but praise! You'll have a lot to live up to, I can tell you, Belden, if you prove to be all Grace claims you are."

"I'm prejudiced! I'm terribly in love with Dick, have been ever since I met him. Love at first sight wasn't it, Dick?"

"Sure! On my side anyway," he replied laughing, then excused himself to wash up.

Ann happened to look at Norton while Grace had been chattering talking of her love for Dick, and she thought she caught a sudden flash of surprise in his eyes, followed by one of pity.

Did he—could he think it true? That Dick loved Grace—that she loved Dick? He must not think that.

So Ann talked a bit hysterically for her, explaining that no one paid any attention to what Grace said, that Dick invariably agreed with her just for fun.

Ann had liked Hugh Norton at once. His simple way of helping her, making himself one of them instead of company, pleased her.

Dick too, seemed to enjoy their guest. He was always hospitable, and urged Norton to come over whenever it was convenient.

"I'm a pretty busy man, but Ann's always in the house and she'll be glad to see you."

"Of course she will! Hugh will help her wash the dishes!" Grace broke in.

"I surely will if I find her doing them," he returned, glancing sharply at Grace.

Ann saw his glance and interpreted it rightly: Grace was trying to be little her, her love of home, her domesticity.

Suddenly Ann felt she had found a friend, that Hugh Norton would be that to her.

Her embarrassment over Grace's speeches, he had at once perceived and resented them because of it. She felt a sudden lightness of spirit. It was nice to have someone who understood.

And she laughingly told Dick how she had been caught in her bungalow apron, her hands all flour, making a joke of it all in her lively way.

"You had some on your face too," Grace said, "but I was in too much of a hurry to find Dick to tell you about it."

"Ann always thinks she must powder or when she uses the flour," Dick said with a loving glance at his flushed wife, "but she looks all right to me even if she does have to dip her nose in the barrel every time she cooks."

Ann returned the look with a happy smile. What cared she for the unkind things Grace said?

Dick loved her and she had found a friend. Until their guests left, Norton fairly insisting Grace must go. Ann was gayer than she had been in weeks. After they left, before Dick returned to his work, she cuddled up to him and said:

"You were dear to say that about the flour, Dick."

"I only told the truth, sweetheart. You do look all right to me, always."
